WITHOUT A QUIVER

Tice Meets Death in the Auburn Prison.

The Kemmler Chair Was the One Used,

And the Electrocution Was Successful.

The Prisoner Was Calm to the Last.

New York's Ninth Murderer Has Paid the Penalty of a Life for a Life Under the New Law.

Auburn, N. Y., May 18.—Tice suffered the death penalty by electricity in Auburn this morning, at 6:39.

For the second time the state's original electrical execution apparatus was used to-day in Auburn and in the chair where Kummler was experimented upon, Joseph L. Tice was electrocuted, being the state's ninth victim.

He met death bravely and yet not with any bravado, and so far as human ingenuity or science can discover he died instantly and without pain.

The execution lasted but a few seconds. From the time the warden notified him in his cell that all was in readiness, until death was announced, was two and one-half minutes. The quickest rope execution in this state has been timed in 26 minutes.

Tice passed his last night on earth as quietly and collectedly as he has the previous ones of the week, and his calmness and evident lack of interest in the exact time was certainly remarkable.

The only allusion he made to it last night was when he lay down on his cot, saying: "I am quiet but I shall not be weary long." He did not forget his devotions and read a chapter in the bible. Tice looked as well, if not better, than he has at any time since his incarceration. He ate his last meal quite heartily and when asked how he felt, said: "Very good, except the pain in my back."

At midnight Guard McNaughton awoke the prisoner and he arose and dressed. Then he was shaved. He said nothing, but after the operation was over he lay down in his clothes. At 5 o'clock Chaplain Yates and Rev. Mr. Penny visited the prisoner and held religious devotions. To Mr. Penny he said: "My back pains me, but soon I shall know no pain." The clergyman stayed with him while he drank a cup of coffee and ate very sparingly.

It was 6:30 this morning when the witnesses who had previously visited the apparatus were notified that their presence was desired, and they filed to their places in the execution room. The same arrangement of apparatus was noticed as in the former execution, but there was a largely increased voltage, and some of the straps to be affixed to the face had been changed.

Those who stood about the chair were: Electrician Davis, of New York; Drs. McCort and Remington, of Rochester; Under Sheriff Bailey, of Monroe county; Dr. Erving, of Sing Sing; Warden Brown, of Sing Sing; C. M. Welsh, of Syracuse; G. E. Graham, the United Press, Albany; Pierce Purcell, of Rochester; Dr. Sawyer, of Auburn; Dr. Daniels, of Buffalo; Dr. Smith, of Auburn; Rev. F. D. Penny, Chaplain Yates, of Auburn; Dr. A. G. Root, of Albany; Dr. J. P. R. Clyde, Wm. F. Lansing, Little Falls; Edward M. Allen, Auburn; Reuben Myers, L. C. Washburne, Auburn; Dr. G. C. Fell, Buffalo; H. D. Burrell, Syracuse; Dr. C. O. Banker, and H. D. Peck, Auburn.

When all had grouped themselves about the chair Electrician Davis pressed the signal button five times and the row of six electric lights in the closet glowed brightly. He pressed it twice again for more current and then quickly switched it into the row of test lamps on the chair. The response was instantaneous and the electrician broke the connection and took the lamps away. Warden Durston then stepped to the door of the corridor of Tice's cell and said: "All right, bring him in."

The guard said: "Come, Joseph," and Chaplain Yates assisted him to rise. His face was ashen pale and every bit of color color had left his lips. He said not a word, but took his cane and without any assistance but its friendly support, walked into the execution chamber.

He glanced neither to the right nor left and did not shrink as the warden said: "Sit down, Tice."

Not a muscle seemed to tremble; there was hardly a tremor of the frame, only the face devoid of hue of life and the downcast eye gave notice that he realized the awful trial. Neither chaplain nor prisoner said a word. More expeditiously than can be told the guards affixed the straps, Dr. Daniels, who was in charge, saying as the head was affixed, "a little higher, or you will break the nose."

The head electrode was the metal cap filled with sponges and bringing the current to both temples. The opposite was fixed to the calf of the left leg. It was just thirty-eight minutes after 6 when he sat down in the chair and at exactly 6:39 to the second, Dr. Daniels, who stood out in front, raised his hand.

Warden Brown, of Sing Sing, had a few seconds before turned on salt water that ran from rubber bags through rubber tubes to the electrode sponges. Electrician Davis moved the switch and the body straightened up against the straps as 1,720 volts were driven through it.

For 15 seconds Dr. Daniels kept his hand raised, then he dropped it. The body sank back almost imperceptibly.

For three seconds the current remained off and during that time there was not a quiver of the lips or a move of the fingers. Then the doctor signalled again and the body stiffened up as the current struck it.

Fifteen seconds it stayed so then the current was switched off for five seconds.

Again the body collapsed, but there was not the faintest sound and no emission from the mouth.

Ten seconds more of contact and then an interval of five seconds and ten more of contact.

"Doctors Erving and Banker will examine the pulse," said the warden. The victim had been in the chair one minute and three seconds. The two physicians felt the wrists and the arteries of the neck. "There is no pulse; the man is dead." they answered.

There had been no sign of respiration, there was no emission from the mouth, and the only visible effect of the current was a slight steaming from the evaporation in the leg electrode and an outer skin blister. This was not apparent in the head electrode.

At the second prior to the turning on of the current the victim had closed his left hand and just as the current struck him was attempting to close the right. The movement stopped instantly and the fingers remained in a natural position. The head did not move and there was no contraction of the lips or of the legs.

When the strap was removed it showed the face to be exactly the same in appearance as when the old man sat dawn. The lips were not drawn, the eyes were closed naturally, and but for a slight blister on the right side of the face, caused by the hot salt water, the face was that of the living. The witnesses filed silently upstairs to the warden's office and signed the usual document.

At 9:30 the autopsy was commenced by Dr. Erying, of Sing Sing, and Drs. McCort and Remington, of Rochester. It will be concluded about 1 o'clock and the result will be filed with the county clerk of Monroe county. Dr. Daniels said to the United Press correspondent:

"I used the short alternating current and the brief intervals between the shocks so that we could preclude any possibility of returning animation, not that I believe there is any, but the exhalation of wind has sometimes given laymen that impression. You will notice that there was not the slightest sound from the victim."

Warden Brown of Sing Sing said: "It was the most successful execution yet held and Chaplain Yates said there was nothing horrible about it."

Each physician expressed himself well pleased with the result and agreed that there was nothing horrible or disgusting about it. The remains were placed in a plain coffin this afternoon and taken to the prison cemetery and covered with an American flag as he had requested. Almost the last words of Tice were to thank Warden and Mrs. Durston for their kindness to him during his incarceration.

J. L. Tice was 63 years old and a veteran of the war of the rebellion. His record prior to four years ago was good, but at that time he began drinking, as he himself alleged, because of his second wife's intemperate habits and a painful spinal disease coming upon him.

In 1890 he assaulted his wife, threatening to kill her and upon her complaint he was sent to prison.

On July 11, 1891, he met his wife in Rochester and demanded that she live with him.

She refused and he drew a knife and stabbed her to death.

His principal defense was that he was grossly intoxicated at the time.

His case was appealed up through the highest courts, but the decision of capital punishment was affirmed and the governor refused to interfere.

It's money thrown away when a medicine doesn't help you. It's your risk and your loss. But that's the way you have to buy every medicine for woman's ailments, except Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

With that, there's no risk—it's guaranteed. If it doesn't benefit or cure, in all the chronic weaknesses, painful disorders and functional disturbances that afflict womankind, you have your money back. But you won't ask it—you'll be cured.

Give it time, if your case is obstinate. The troubles that come slowly, have to go slowly. The surest and speediest remedy is the "Favorite Prescription." It builds up and invigorates the system, regulates and promotes the proper functions, and restores health and strength.

For everything that's known as a "female complaint," it's a positive specific.

If you're an overworked or suffering woman, it's a medicine that's made especially to help you—but you pay only for the help that you get.

On these terms it's the cheapest sold.

WORSE EACH HOUR

Terrible Reports from the Floods.

Cities Cut Off from the Rest of the World.

Relief Boats Doing Great Service.

Robbers Making the Most of Their Chances.

A Dike in East St. Louis Gives Way and Many People May be Drowned—Most Alarming Reports.

St. Louis, Mo., May 18.—A report just reached here that the Ohio & Mississippi railroad dike in East St. Louis, which has protected the main portion of that city from the flood, has broken and the water is pouring into the town in torrents. The people are fleeing for their lives.

ALARMING REPORTS.

Hundreds of People Driven From Their Homes by Encroaching Water.

St. Louis, Mo., May 18.—The local flood situation is more serious to-day.

The river is rising slowly and at 10 o'clock this morning registered 35 feet 8 inches. This is a rise of four inches since yesterday. Local rains last night and this morning add to the gravity of the situation and it is believed the river will eventually reach the 37 feet mark.

The Missouri river continues to rise at the rate of nearly an inch per hour. The city of Alton has been entirely cut off from railroad communication for 24 hours and travel will not be restored until Friday at least.

West of St. Charles the scene along the river is one of desolation and destruction. Thousands upon thousands of acres of rich farm lands on both banks of the stream are inundated to a depth of several feet. Hundreds of farmers have been driven from their homes, their crops destroyed, their stock drowned and in many cases their houses washed into the river.

At Labadie the river extends from the Missouri Pacific track to Augusta on the opposite bluffs, a distance of over five miles.

At New Haven the business portion of the town will be entirely flooded by night if the waters continue to rise at the present rate.

About 25 houses in North St. Louis have floated from their foundations and the occupants are camping in tents on the high ground. The scenes north on the river are heartrending. From the hills in O'Fallon park relief boats can be seen hurrying to and fro among the needy and helpless people. Over 100 families in that vicinity have been rendered homeless. To add to the general wretchedness, robbers and thieves have begun to pillage the abandoned houses.

Over 6,000 bales of cotton are in cellars on the levee. Roustabouts are working in water up to their necks and getting one dollar an hour to rescue the cotton.

The city's milk supply is to some extent endangered by the flood since the Illinois railroads have ceased to run accommodation trains.

The latest prediction is that the river will rise six inches or a foot here. It is possible the rise will go beyond that point. Below this city the rise will be even greater and the levees are expected to go. The signal service this morning sent out a special warning to St Louis to be distributed through the river districts. It was prepared by Prof. Thomas Russell, the river and flood forecaster of the department of agriculture. It predicts that the river at St. Louis will go a foot beyond the highest stage of water for yesterday, which will put it at 36 feet 3 inches.

In the southern district below St. Louis Prof. Russell says the levees will not hold the water which is in sight and coming down. These reports were prepared before information had been received of the tremendous rains in this section and north of here last night and this morning.

The following is Prof. Russell's statement:

There has been a rainfall of 2.20 inches along the Missouri river from Kansas City to Pierre, and 2.50 inches along the Arkansas form Fort Smith to Little Rock. The rainfall in Iowa, Missouri and Illinois and along the upper Mississippi averages over one inch.

The present high stage of the Missouri at Kansas City will be maintained for some time and may even increase in the next three days. At St. Louis the very high stage of 35.3 feet prevails, there being a rise of five feet in the past five days. The prospects are that the rise will continue one foot more, and the high stage will be maintained for some time. The Ohio river has begun to rise. The Cumberland and Tennessee rivers are low. The river at Cairo will remain stationary at the high stage, and it remains to be seen yet what will occur with the Missouri flood. The stage of the river at Memphis is 31.4 feet to-day, a rise of two feet since yesterday. The rise will continue and 33.5 feet will be reached within a few days. The Arkansas river at Fort Smith is at a high stage.

At Little Rock the river is 25.6 and rising; 30 feet will be reached by the 20th. The recent rise at Cairo would be sufficient to increase the stage at Vicksburg to 49.8 feet in the next 10 days. The water in sight justifies a belief that the stage at Vicksburg would increase to about 51 feet if the levees were high enough to hold the water. The highest stage the levees are considered capable of withstanding is 49.5 feet.

DOMESTIC TROUBLE.

Canton, O., May 18.—Mrs. Edward Elkins incurred her husband's displeasure by doing some washing for her mother. Elkins gave her a beating, and growing despondent his wife secured laudanum and swallowed a portion of it. Prompt medical aid saved her life. Mrs. Elkins also tried to shoot herself, but the weapon was taken from her.

SCHOOL HOUSE FOR MANTUA.

Mantua, O., May 18.—A spirited contest took place here yesterday upon the question whether the special school district should issue bonds not to exceed $16,000 for the purpose of purchasing a site and building a new school-house. A very large vote was polled, resulting in 12 majority in favor of the project.

BOYS SENT TO THE PEN.

Urbana, O., May 18.—Judge Geiger sentenced Edwin R. Shroupe and Charles Anderson to one year each in the Ohio penitentiary. The boys held up Edward Aken several weeks ago and robbed him. They are 19 years of age and have been at the Boys' Industrial home.

BIG TIME IN ADRIAN.

A Holiday Devoted to the Boom.

A Movement Made by the People to Push the City Rapidly to the Front.

Adrian, Mich., May 18.—This city is to-day the scene of a unique celebration. It is the culmination of a real estate boom which the liberal minded citizens of this place have been nursing for the past twelve-month.

The peculiar feature of the enterprise consists in the fact that the stockholders of the improvement company which is engineering the movement are pledged to devote the profits to public improvements, and to building up the manufacturing and commercial interests of the city.

The company bought up about 1,200 building lots last August, and these have nearly doubled in value since that time. Additional interest has been given to the sale of lots which takes place this afternoon by the offer of three prizes to be distributed among the purchasers by lot, the prizes consisting of property to the value of $2,000, $1,500 and $800, respectively.

The day is being observed as a holiday, there being absolutely no business going on from one end of the town to the other. The festivities will wind up with an old-fashioned barbecue at which two choice steers will be roasted whole and served free.

IN THE BEE TO-DAY

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

U. S. Department of Agriculture, Weather Bureau, Toledo, O., May 18, 1892.

The storm which was central over Kansas, has developed great energy during the past 24 hours, and has moved northeastward and is central over Iowa, Wisconsin and Minnesota. It has caused unusual heavy rains west of the Mississippi river. The following are the heaviest reported (in inches and hundredths) during the past 24 hours: Omaha, 1.30; Moorhead, 2.10; Huron, 1.56; Des Moines, 1.40; Cairo, 1.10; and Ft. Smith, 294. There is an area of very high pressure over the northwest, which has caused a very steep barometric gradient towards the storm center, and has caused high winds over the entire west and northwest and will cause gales on all the lakes during the next 48 hours.

The temperature has risen east of the storm center, and fallen to the west, north and south of it. Signals for S. E. gales are displayed on all the lakes, except Lake Ontario. The storm will probably move over the lakes during the next 24 to 36 hours, and will then be followed by the high area, which will cause the weather to clear, and become cooler.

The Mississippi river is rising everywhere and the recent heavy rains in the west will cause considerable rise in the already flooded district.

Forecast for Toledo and vicinity: On Wednesday, showers, continued warm weather, brisk to high southeast winds, followed to-moorow night by clearing, cooler weather and brisk northwest winds.

ARE OFF FOR THE EAST

The Great Relay Race Has Commenced.

Bike Boys to Make a Reputation.

They Will Carry a Military Message from Chicago to New York in Four Days.

Chicago, May 18.—A few seconds before 12 o'clock to-day A. E. Lumsden and E. C. Bode, two of Chicago's crack wheelmen, mounted their wheels, settled themselves comfortably in their saddles, adjusted their feet to the pedals and with a friend supporting them on either side awaited the stroke of noon, at which time Maj. General Nelson A. Miles, commander of the Department of the Missouri, was to hand them a message addressed to Maj. General O. O. Howard, commander of the Department of the East.

Prompt to the second General Miles stepped forward and thrust the missive into Lumsden's hands. In a jiffy it was safely stowed away, and, with a friendly push and cheer from the crowd, the great road ride was started.

The object of the ride is to demonstrate the utility of the bicycle in military service, and if the message is delivered in New York City within the time agreed upon, four days, this object will certainly have been accomplished. The run has been cut up into eight divisions, and each division into from four to a dozen parts, according to the condition of the roads and the number of riders available.

The men will go in pairs, there being about 140 of them altogether, and the distance to be covered by each pair varying from seven to forty miles.

The approximate time that will be occupied in covering each section of road has been carefully estimated, and the men are all under orders to be in readiness to receive the message from the previous man and to bear it forward to the next without delay.

The roads in some places are simply atrocious on account of the recent rains, but the military feature of the enterprise has been impressed upon the riders and their orders are inflexible to push forward through mud and water, rain and shine, regardless of everything but getting there.

Wheelmen are enthusiastic over the idea, and claim that a record will be made that will make the fabled stories of the pony express dwindle into insignificance.

Following is a list of riders in the first four divisions of the great bicycle relay ride:

Peekskill to Tarrytown, 15 miles, riders not yet decided upon.

Tarrytown to 21 Park row, New York city, 25 miles, W. S. Campbell, J. Lansing Quick.

N. H. Van Sicklen, one of the oldest road riders in the country, estimates that the entire journey will be made in 98 hours and that the message will be delivered to Gen. Howard in New York by 2 o'clock on Sunday afternoon next, but with the roads in their present condition this seems hardly possible, though Gen. Miles himself is said to believe the feat will be accomplished.

Certain it is that the riders will strain every nerve to beat the scheduled time, if possible. They are nothing daunted by the bad weather and claim that the test will be more valuable because of the bad roads over which the race against old Father Time will take place.

On Time.

Grand Crossing, Ill., May 18.—At 12:41 o'clock Wheelman Lumsden, bearing Gen. Miles' dispatch dashed up to the South Chicago avenue crossing here. As he came up at full speed H. A. Githens, the first relay, wheeled up abreast of him, and receiving the dispatch, sped on toward Kensington, the next relay station.

At Kensington.

Kensington, Ill., May 18.—Gitkens reached here at 1:08 p. m., and turned Gen. Miles' dispatch over to R. Hoagland, who will carry it to Mannodn. Githens' time was 29 minutes for the seven miles.

HISSED A SPEAKER.

Warm Time Among the Methodists.

Church South and North Still Far Apart.

Bishop Foster in the Chair To-day—More Resolutions Introduced and Referred.

Omaha, Neb., May 18.—Bishop Foster, guided the Methodist conference this morning. Several resolutions declaring the conference in favor of equal representation of ministers and laymen and asking that the conference be divided into two houses were receivd and referred to the committee on equal representation.

The Baltimore conerence asked that the next general conference devise some means to midify the functions of the offices if the presiding elder as to secure greater efficiency at less expense to the church.

The action of some members of the conference in hissing Dr. Tigert, the fraternal delegate from the M. E. church south, was discussed freely during the lull in business and many unfavorable comments were heard. The hissing was caused by a remark by Dr. Tigert that, "the southern whites are the best friends of the colored men." The dark-skinned delegates and their sympathizers did not believe this and groans and hisses were directed at the speaker.

It is the concensus of opinion that the insult offered by Dr. Tigert will delay the proposed consolidation of the two churches.

Hon. Charles Baker, fraternal delegate from the Independent Methodist church of Baltimore was received and reported the greetings of those churches. He delivered an eloquent address which was heartily applauded and a resolution of thanks and greeting was returned him by the conference.

Gov. Evans, of Colorado, offered a resolution setting apart the districts of Colorado, West Nebraska, South Dakota, Arizona, Utah, New Mexico and Wyoming as a publication district and that a committee be appointed to superintend the publication of a western Christian Advocate, as the Rocky Mountain Advocate will suspend publication, owing to the limited support.

After a parliamentry wrangle the resolution was laid on the table—181 to 173.

SEVERE AND FATAL ILLNESS.

Fremont, O., May 18.—Michael Tolppe, an aged pioneer and well-known farmer of this city, died last night after a long and severe illness. Deceased was 56 years of age.

HAS GONE TO CHICAGO

The Yacht Leila Purchased in the Windy City.

All the Happenings Along the Lakes.

What the Inland Marine Furnishes for People Who Read the Always Busy Bee.

Chicago, May 18.—(Special Marine Service)—The Argo club, of Chicago, is composed of rich young men who are inclined to yachting and sport upon the water. The handsome ship-shaped clubhouse in the lake basin at the foot of Randolph street, where they give fashionable receptions every now and then, has been the nearest approach to any craft of their own, however, in common, until now. Capt. John Prindiville has just bought the crack steam yacht Leila for them at Detroit, and she is to come here forthwith. The Leila has a guaranteed speed of 18 miles an hour, and has fine accommodations for 200 passengers. She will prove a most valuable acquisition to the Chicago squadron. The price paid for her was $15,000. Among the members of the Argo club are Henry Norton, Chas. McDonald, of Deering & Co., E. S. Worthington, W. T. Baker, and Robert Fleming.

Commencing this morning the barge office at Rush street bridge will be open for business all day and all night. The day force commenced this morning.

Smith, the Canadian minister of marine fisheries, writes that vessels drawing nine feet of water and 175 feet in length can come up through the Canadian canals from the Atlantic to the lakes. Yachts and pleasure craft from New York, and from England, France and other European countries are to be invited to Lake Michigan during the world's fair, and many merchantmen will be passing to and fro.

Some unknown steamer had a collision late Monday night with the east end of the pier of the Illinois Central railroad bridge at the mouth of the harbor. It was a heavy blow, for the great timbers are badly cut into.

Cleveland.

Cleveland, May 18.—Several vessels were chartered for ore, Ashland to South Chicago, at $1.20. Advance of 5 cents to-day. No ore charters outside of these today, though demand for Escanaba tonnage was strong. Demand for boats to load soft coal keeps up.

CAPT. EGAN.

Chicago, May 18.—Still no light is cast upon the mysterious disappearance of Capt. W. P. Egan, of Cleveland, who was sent here two weeks ago from Cleveland, as the assistant of Andrew Riemel, in the Chicago shipping office of the newly organized Lake Carriers' association.

At police headquarters the greatest apathy was manifested in the case.

The officials seemed to have taken it for granted that the disappearance could be explained on the theory of a spree or a desire for notoriety.

WON BY THE MINNIES

Morton's Men Play an Eleven Inning Game.

Western League Hunting for a New City

To Take the Place of St. Paul—General Sporting News—Gossip of the Game.

The Western League has not yet found a city to take St. Paul's place, but the "Castouts" are still playing ball and patiently waiting for something to turn up.

At the meeting in Chicago various cities were considered. Fort Wayne wants to try a whirl in fast company, but the League does not seem to be favorably impressed with the Indiana town.

Indianapolis can fully represent the Hoosier state in base ball. So far the club from that city has won one game, and had 18 out of 27 postponed by rain.

The Denver people offer big inducements to have the League come west, and about the only snag in Denver's path is the long railroad ride. This the residents of the Rockies claim they will make all right by a guarantee of cheap rates on the railroads, and a bonus to every club that plays there.

In no case will St. Paul have a club.

The people in that locality have lost interest in base ball and cannot be thawed out.

The Chicago meeting adjourned without taking final action, and left the matter of St. Paul's successor in the hands of President Williams, who is fully competent to act in the matter.

Morton's Minnies dropped in on Toledo yesterday and won a game that was exciting from the start. Pears was in the points for Toledo and put up a splendid game, in fact should have won. France got away with his game by the help of Toledo's bad play.

It took eleven innings to settle the contest.

The Minnies scored their first run in the fifth. With one man out Shinnick singled to right and it got away from Armour, giving the runner third. He scored on a sacrifice.

In the first half of the ninth Ely made a hit and the Parson got four balls. Newell tried to sacrifice but it went safe and the bases were filled. Campion lined out a screecher and Ely and the Parson scored. Hurley hit the ball in front of the plate and went out at first. Newell tried to score on the play but West returned the ball in time to cut off the run. Pears went out at first.

In the Minnies half of the ninth West hit to Newell, who fumbled it long enough for West to get first, and then threw it wild, giving him second. A sacrifice put him on third and Parrott's hit scored him, Armour helping Parrott to second. Shinnick sacrificed and Dixon struck out.

Neither side scored until the eleventh, when Newman hit for a single. West hit to Nicholson, but Tom got the ball wild to second and both men were safe. Katz hit to right for a single and Newman scored the winning run.

Fremont, Col., May 18.—Simons, a faro dealer in the Buckhorn saloon, attempted to assassinate Tommy Warren, the pugilist, in the Anaconda saloon last night. The shooting was the result of an old grudge. The assault was considered an attempt at cold-blooded murder, and there is little sympathy in camp for Simons, who was severely beaten by Warren's friends.

Notes of the Game.

The attendance was small.

It was a hard game to lose.

Armour does not seem to be able to find the ball safe. Last season he hit like a fiend.

The Emmets and Hudsons play on the Wabash grounds next Sunday.

The Rattlers cross bats with the Ivys Sunday, May 22nd, at the St. Clair grounds.

Campion distinguished himself both at bat and on the bag. That boy "Camp" is right in it.

The Puritans defeated the Quicksteps 15 to 5. Batteries, Oswald and Mettler, Suder and Viola.

C. Weil, the clever short stop of the old Auburndale base ball club, has affixed his signature to a Starr contract.

All members of the Emmet base ball club are requested to meet at their hall Saturday evening. Business of importance.

Many of the errors are due to the bad condition of the ground. Rough spots make it impossible to guage the bound of a hard hit ball.

The Pathfinders challenge the Emmets, Rogers, Speranzas or Foxes to a game of ball Sunday, May 22, on the Lake Shore grounds. If accepted answer through the Bee.

The Toledo club was credited yesterday with only five hits in all the base ball headquarters of the country. They should have had ten. This is a rank injustice and should be corrected.

IN SUPPORT OF BRIGGS.

Union Theological Seminary Alumni.

The Professor's Support So Strong That His Opponents Had to Leave the Hall.

New York, May 18.—The dinner of the Union Theological Seminary alumni was one of particular interest in view of the position the seminary now occupies before the Presbyterian church.

Professor Charles A. Briggs, who occupies the chair of biblical theology at Union Seminary, although the general assembly and the supreme court of Presbyterianism refused to confirm his appointment to it because of his alleged heresies, was present and made a speech.

Though his case will be the great subject of discussion at the general assembly, which is to open its sessions at Portland, Ore., this week, Professor Briggs did not seem to be at all worried as to any action that body might take, and, though an effort will probably be made to discipline the directorate of Union Seminary for standing by Professor Briggs after the general assembly had frowned upon him, several of the directors who were at the dinner boldly stated that whatever action the general assembly might take, Union Seminary would continue in its allegiance to Professor Briggs.

In fact, the whole spirit of the evening as manifested by the 110 members of the seminary's alumni organization who sat at the tables was one of support to Professor Briggs, and that spirit was often aroused to such a point as to find expression in loud applause.

The Rev. J. W. Hegeman presided at the banquet. "Union Theological Seminary," he said, "in spite of its tribulation, stands where it always stood for unfettered investigation and the right to proclaim the truth." These words brought out great applause. William E. Dodge, who is an elder in Dr. Parkhurst's church, said: "This attempt to fetter thought and restrain investigation is not American, it is not Presbyterian, and it is not Christian. The seminary does not mean to stand it, and eventually the church will not stand it."

John Crosby Brown, vice president of the board of directors, said: "We are perfectly indifferent as to what our friends in the general assembly may do. It is not Union Seminary, but the Presbyterian church of the United States which is on trial. We have a duty to perform, and there is not power enough in any ecclesiastical body or in any civil body on the earth to make us swerve from our trust." The enthusiasm that was awakened by Mr. Brown's remarks showed that he had spoken the sentiments of his hearers. One by one these opponents of Union's positions left their seats as the remarks of the speakers grew warmer, and when Professor Briggs arose to speak they had nearly all left the room. "No power can make us budge an inch from our position," said Professor Briggs. "I do not look forward with foreboding to what that venerable body, the general assembly, will do. (Laughter.) The decision may be against us this year, but it will be in our favor hereafter."

RAILWAY TELEGRAPHERS.

Seventh Annual Convention in Session.

Committees Appointed and the General Work Fully in Hand.

Chattanooga, Tenn., May 18.—The organization of the seventh annual convention of the Order of Railway Telegraphers was completed after a spirited discussion over a supplemental report of the credentials committee. The remainder of the morning's session was occupied with a voluminous annual report from Acting Grand Chief Ramsay. The convention declined to give the report for publication, but it is barren of any sensational features, and the suggestions made are of a most conservative character. During the year 27 new divisions were organized.

The report of Secretary Cox shows 170 divisions and 22,506 executive members in good standing. The protective funds amount to $80,000 and the treasury's general fund is $40,000. The circulation of the official organ semi-monthly is 30,000. Following standing committees appointed:

A WEALTHY FARMER KILLED.

Portsmouth, O., May 18.—August Lombard, a wealthy farmer and mayor of Lombardville, Scioto county, was killed by a runaway team. He was thrown from a wagon, the wheels passing over his head, crushing his skull almost flat and causing instant death. A Mrs. Smith and child were with him and were seriously injured, the child probably fatally.

LIFE HAD NO CHARMS

After His Loved Ones Passed Away.

Pathetic Letters Written By Sanford.

That the Loss of His Cherished Wife and Baby Unbalanced His Mind is Too Plainly Evident.

Lima, May 18.—(Special)—The death of Louis C. Sanford, of this city, by his own hand, at Piqua, Saturday afternoon, is a most pathetic and touching incident of how the loss of loved ones often preys upon a man's mind and drives him to desperation and death.

Three years ago Mr. Sanford was married to Miss Maud Evans, of this city, and the union was a most happy one. The groom was a man of unquestionable habits, a thorough business man and a genial, warm-hearted fellow all around.

The bride was one of the most prominent young ladies in the city, and was loved by all who knew her. She was a bright winsome girl, of a tender, loving disposition, and always had a kind word and gentle greeting for all. She was a devoted Christian, and many was the home of poverty brightened and made happy by her presence and generous hand.

With dispositions so congenial and tastes blended so perfectly the days that followed the celebration of the marriage were full of happiness and contentment for the young couple.

There came a day, two years after, when their happiness would become supreme, by the birth of a babe.

This event in stead, marked the disruption of this happy family, which culminated in the tragedy of last Saturday.

The young wife sickened and died immediately after the birth of her child. Her death was a most peaceful one. With babe in her arms, she reclined in the loving embrace of her heart-broken husband for over three hours, talking, in a most pathetic manner to parents and friends gathered about her bedside.

Death came and her husband was a changed man. His ambition was gone; he was no longer the bright, cheerful "Lou" of the past.

A few weeks and the babe was called to its mother's arms beyond. This was more than the grief stricken father could bear, and he laid down his life, weary and in despair. He penned the following mission to his parents before taking the fatal drug:

"To My Dear Mother and Father:

"How it grieves me to write to you in this way, but then you can think that Louis is over all his troubles, for I have so many, and after all the hell I have suffered on earth, I know I will go to heaven. I have prayed so much, and know that I will meet Maud, Charlie, Jim and baby and all, for I know that Maud will meet me when I breathe my last, for she comes to me and I have asked her would I go to heaven if I would leave this, and she says yes. Oh! mother and father; I will meet you both when you have to come. Maud, Charley, Jim and baby, and all will wait and lead you into eternal happiness. Now mother, do not worry over me. Always think that I will meet you when God says you must go, as He says to me now. Mother, you remember when Maud came and said, "Those are your two stars in heaven." Then I came home only to see little Glenn die. But now you can see that I a mgoin for some good. Give little Helen my ring when she is old enough and teach her to remember uncle Lou and that he was not a wicked man, for I thought so much of her, and I know she will have some remembrance of me." After making bequests to different ones of the family, the letter concludes:

"Now mother, do not worry at all about me, for I am going to heaven and know you are, and will wait for you both. Well, I will stop now and bid you all goodbye. Your son,

LOU.

Another letter reads:

"My Dear Mother:

"Don't worry because I am gone, for it is best. I know I will go to heaven, for I have prayed so much to go there, and then I will be with Maud and then I will be over all the troubles and will then wait for you and father and all the rest, and will be there to meet you when you come. Oh! mother, how I love you all and how I worry to think you worry. You have been so good to me, but Maud and I and baby and all will be there to meet you as they will meet me. Oh! mother, when Maud came to me and said, 'Those are your two stars in heaven,' I came home to see little Glenn die. I want to be laid by Maud, as I gave up my life to go to her, and she wants me to come. Mother, always remember Lou as I remember you, for if you will stop and think that I never said a cross word to my mother. Oh, well, I don't think that I was the worst boy that lived. I never did anything very wrong and knew it. Oh! mamma, how I hate to do this for your sake; but then when you know that I am in heaven and await you there, you will think it for the better, for I know I will go to heaven, for I believe in God and the Bible and thatis all, unless I have been wicked, which I have not. Oh! mother, I have always had such a nice home and you have done so much for me, and Maud prays every night in heaven for me, and when I am with her we will pray for you and all.

"Mother, how much I sat and cried for you, for I know you will feel so bad and I love you so much that I would always give up my life for you."

COMMITTED SUICIDE.

A Follower of Schweinfurth Whose Mind is Not Right.

Rockford, Ill., May 18.—J. D. Smith, about 50 years of age, whose family troubles have been pretty thoroughly ventilated in the local papers, having become infatuated with the bogus Christ, Schweinfurth, committed suicide in a sensational manner yesterday.

He climbed upon the railing of the Morgan street bridge, referred for a moment to a book which he held in his hand, and then plunged into the water, a distance of about 60 feet. His body has not yet been recovered.

NEW TRUSTEE FOR THE PAIGE BANK.

Painesville, O., May 18.—F. J. Jerome, the assignee of the Painesville Savings and Loan association, handed in his resignation yesterday and the probate court appointed Elliott P. Keeler trustee to act in his stead. To-day the trustee filed his bond in the sum of $25,000 and took possession of the books and accounts. For the first time since the bank's failure the doors of the defunct institution were thrown open and Mr. Keeler will have his office there for the settlement of its affairs.

They all Testify To the Efficacy of the World-Renowned Swift's Specific.

The old-time simple remedy from the Georgia swamps and fields has gone forth to the antipodes, astonishing the skeptical and confounding the theories of those who depend solely on the physician's skill. There is no blood taint which it does not immediately eradicate. Poisons outwardly absorbed or the result of vile diseases from within all yield to this potent but simple remedy. It is an unequaled tonic, builds up the old and feeble, cures all diseases arising from impure blood or weakened vitality. Send for a treatise. Examine the proof.

INTO THE COMBINE.

Another Big Stock Yard Deal Is Now On.

Chicago, May 18.—According to the contracts to be signed this week the yards of the Union Stock Yards company will be transferred to the property of the Chicago National Stock Yards company on the Stickney tract in the town of Cicero.

The packing houses of the "big three" and those of the other concerns doing business at the Union Stock Yards will remain where they are.

Cattle will be received at Stickney where extensive facilities will be prepared for their reception. This move effects harmony between the Warring packing interests.

RALPH CHANDLER RELEASED.

Juarez, Mex., May 18.—Ralph H. Chandler, who skipped from West Detroit, Mich., with $8,000 belonging to the Lake Shore & Michigan Central railway, in January, was released from jail yesterday. When Chandler came through the portal to liberty he yelled "Vive la Mexico."

THE PRESBYTERIANS.

Portland, Ore., May 18.—This city is filled up with delegates to the general assembly of the Presbyterian church, which opens to-morrow. The eastern contingent will arrive to-night on three special trains, and will be received by a large reception committee.

MORE THAN ONE BALLOT

Clarkson Talks on the Coming Convention.

Benjamin Will Have to Forget His Dignity and Get Down and Hustle a Bit.

Chicago, May 18.—A clear cut and significant expression on the political situation was given utterance here by Chairman J. S. Clarkson, of the republican national committee.

Mr. Clarkson, fully restored in health, reached Chicago on his way to New York from Hot Springs, Ark.

To a number of newspaper men and friends who called upon him at the Grand Pacific hotel, he said.

"The seven millions of republicans who will be represented at Minneapolis have not made up their minds regarding their candidate.

"The results of the conventions held in the different states clearly show this. There will be more uninstructed delegates in the Minneapolis convention than has ever before been known in the history of the republican party.

"The northern states and the states which cast the electoral votes which elect, have almost every one of them sent uninstructed delegates.

"The majority of the instructed delegates come from these states. Some of the able editors and federal office holders claim the nomination is settled already. I certainly do not think so. But as for being a party to any conspiracy in favor of the nomination of Blaine, Sherman, or Harrison, I desire to enter a protest. There seems to have been considerable ill-feeling manifested of late regarding the nomination, those who claim the whole situation is clear getting excited if anyone differed with them. I will keep out of the contest, and cast my vote for whoever I shall determine will be the winner."

"Then you don't think Mr. Harrison will be nominated on the first ballot?"

"Now you cannot draw me out as to whom I think will be nominated. Without much doubt there will be several ballots cast. The man must be very popular who would secure the nomination on the first ballot when such a large proportion of the delegates are uninstructed."

PIONEER DEAD.

Celina, O., May 18.—William Finley, aged 72, one of Mercer county's oldest pioneers, having been a resident of the county since its establishment, died at his home four miles west of this city after a long siege of sickness from brain trouble.

VERDICT OF NOT GUILTY.

Millersburg, O., May 18.—In the case of Robert N. Maxwell, indicted for manslaughter in killing his brother Abner last November, the jury brought in a verdict of not guilty.

Mr. Warren D. Wentz
of Geneva, N. Y.,

Tells of His Fearful Sufferings After Gastric Fever and His Cure by

Hood's Sarsaparilla

All who know Mr. W. D. Wentz give him the best of recommendations for honesty and integrity. For many years he has worked for Mr. D. P. Wilson, the harness maker and member of the Geneva Board of Health. He says:

"I was taken sick last October with gastric fever and my chance for recovery was considered almost hopeless. After 7 weeks the fever slowly left me, but I could not eat the simplest food without terrible distress. It seemed that I had recovered from the fever to

Die of Starvation

I took pepsin compounds, bismuth, charcoal, cod liver oil and malt until my physician confessed that his skill was about exhausted and he did not know what else to try. Everything I took seemed like pouring melted lead into my stomach. I happened to think I had part of a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla that had been in the house for two or three years, that I found had benefited me previously for dyspepsia. I began taking it and soon began to feel better. I have now taken a little over two bottles and can truthfully say I feel well again and can eat anything without distressing me, even to which I have been unable to touch for years. The English language does not contain words enough to permit me to express the praise I would like to give to Hood's Sarsaparilla." W. D. WENTZ, 18½ Castle St., Geneva, N. Y.

A Good Voucher

These famous mountain resorts, situated at the summit of the Alleghanies and directly upon the main line of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, have the advantage of its splendid vestibuled express train service both east and west, and are therefore readily accessible from all parts of the country. All Baltimore & Ohio trains stop at Deer Park and Oakland during the season.

Rates, $60, $75 and $90 a month, according to location. Communications should be addressed to GEORGE D. DeSHIELDS, Manager Baltimore & Ohio Hotels, Cumberland, Md., up to June 10; after that date, either Deer Park or Oakland, Garrett County, Md.

PASTURE AT $2 A MONTH!

I will take horses to pasture on my farm at Bay Shore. They will be looked after twice a day, be regularly salted and cared for. The pasture is part tame and part wild. When the tame pasture is exhausted, as is invariably the case in the middle of the summer, the wild pasture is rich and luxuriant, keeping the stock in prime condition the whole season.

The pasture fronts on the bay, so that the stock can stand in the water, which is of material benefit to horses which have become sore from being driven on the pavements. For further information address FRANK B. NILES,

A deal was closed yesterday afternoon whereby Mrs. Mary Scott, of Honululu island, sold through her agents, Ira A. Richardson & Son, five and one-half acres of land on the corner of Dorr and Lenk streets, to several Cleveland parties for $17,000. The property will be platted and placed on the market at once.

TO DEBAR ASHLEY.

Mr. Brophy Proposes Carrying the War Into Egypt.

The Ashley-Brophy row is the sole topic of conversation in legal circles and the Ashleys are universally condemned.

Asked by a Bee this morning if the trial in Police court would end the trouble, Mr. Brophy smiled meaningly and said:

"I propose prosecuting it as far as ever I possibly can. The assault was most unprovoked. Why, Ashley and I have boarded together for over a year and have been good friends."

Mr. Brophy has been asked by numerous legal friends and acquaintances to have the matter brought before the court with a view of having Ashley debarred from pleading in any more cases.

The title of the case was The City vs. J. M. Ashley. Charles Ashley represented his father and Stephen Brophy the contractor. The amount of damages at issue were only $1.20, instead of $120, as stated by some of the papers.

We return our most grateful thanks to the press of Toledo for the many courtesies received, their kindly interest in the success of our arrangements, all of which we deeply appreciate.

THE GIRLS WERE INSPECTED

And the Auxiliary Found to be in Fine Condition, as a Matter of Course.

The Ladies Aid society, auxiliary to Mark E. Sibley camp, S. of V., was inspected last night by Mrs. Mason, the national president, and was found to be honor which is seldom won. The society comprises 91 members, and is the banner as well as one of the youngest societies of the state.

The national president was more than pleased with the successful organization and spoke words of praise for Miss Kate Raynor, who is president of the society and a very active worker. Both Mark E. Sibley and Gen. Slevin camps were invited to be present, and late in the evening ice cream, cake and lemonade were served. The occasion was a success in every way, which reflects great credit on the members.

Miss Raynor gave a 5 o'clock tea for Mrs. Mason yesterday afternoon, the officers and chairmen of the different committees being present. This was likewise an enjoyable affair. The decorations were very artistic and the tea a dainty one. The guests were: Mrs. Baldwin, Mrs. Munson, Mrs. Stutzman, Mrs. Foster, Mrs. Sampson, jr., and the Misses Richards, Crane, Burge, Ringleman, Speyer, Cleary, Romeis, McNany, Pike and Perew.

CLUBS AND SOCIETIES.

Home Aid Association—Ramabai Circle.

The Home Aid association held their regular fortnightly meeting at Odd Fellows' temple last night. One new member was initiated. There is considerable sickness among the members of the order, and the meeting was not so largely attended as usual. There has been but one death in the order since its organization, that being the death of Mrs. Klein some months since. All the members have not yet paid their assessments, although the allotted time, 30 days, has expired. Last night the secretary was instructed to notify these delinquents that they must attend to this matter at once or forfeit their membership, as this order is not run on credit, but on the prompt payment of every member. Its financial condition is first class and it is intended that it shall remain so. The social hour generally enjoyed by the order was dispensed with last night as the comitte on program was absent. The next meeting will be Tuesday evening, June 7.

The Ramabai circle meets with Mrs. Randolph this afternoon.

At the Law kindergarten rooms on Friday afternoon, the Colloquial club will dold its last meeting before vacation. Miss Cora Law will read the paper on "Boys' Rights."

The Catholic club hold their last meeting for the season to-morrow night. A more than usually fine program is promised, and all the members are expected to show their continued interest by attending.

The Woman's Home Missionary society of the Central Ohio conference, in session at Bowling Green, is being largely attended, and much interest is manifested. Mrs. Albright will address the meeting to-night. The session will close to-morrow.

Helping the Dear Good People.

The campaign of tariff education is so largely statistical and so provokingly dry, that the average consumer will not spend time to master its details. It is enough for the masses on one side to be assured that they are being everlastingly protected by Uncle Samuel against the schemes of foreign manufacturers and the pauper labor of the congested cities of Europe. It is sufficient for the masses in the other party to be told in all seriousness that taxes are up, and going higher, by reason of the tax laws made for the exclusive benefit of the classes.

These things, let it be repeated, are taken for granted by the average citizen, but there is one branch of the subject which should not be lost sight of, as we seriously approach the campaign for the election of a president of the United States.

Some things there are which are absolutely free. That is, it doesn't cost a cent of duty to bring them into this country.

For this freedom the great American consuming public is under lasting obligations to Mr. McKinley, whose brain originated the chapter of generosity, and for whose magnanimity the good people of Ohio rewarded him by electing him governor of the fourth state of the Union.

It is meet and proper, and our bounden duty, at least once a campaign, to particularize the bounties vouchsafed by this Great Man, this saint in bodily presence.

To begin alphabetically, and continuing seriatim, we have on the free list, alizarine and ambergris, and acorns, too, as free as argal and appatite from Timbuctoo; while arseniate of analine, and asafedita loud, are classed with Balm of Gilead, with nary a marring cloud.

There's bauxite and beeswax, and birds, nicely stuffed, what a nice mess, so pretty and so puffed. And bladders, fish bladders, crude, with the other integument of animals, not mentioned, but costing not a cent.

Blood, dried blood, and chopped dog, who says there's no pork for the American hog? Bones—they're a blessing, not a farthing, as you have dreamed, for you can have them crude, not burned, calcined, ground or steamed.

Brazil paste, birds, breccia, and Burgundy pitch, suitable, like cadmium and castoreum, for poor alike with rich. Catgut, worm-gut and whip-gut, strings or cords, what glorious freedom this—makes us jolly as lords.

Now, there's cerium, likewise coculus indecus, and when we get it free we don't care a cuss, but also know that free as lying is Dragon's blood, and roots made fit for dyeing.

There's dandy divi-divi, fish skins and flint fossils, sunn and istle, and saffron without stint. Horns and ipecac, iridium and jet, something nice in jalap for all of us to get, Joss stick and junk, kieserite and punk, lac dye and lemon juice, a nice summer drink—doesn't cost a cent, no matter what you think.

Munjeet, manzanese, osium and quills of geese, palladium and pulu, rennets, too, and soap grease; shrimps and sausage skins, sauer kraut and salacine, selon, and skeletons, nicest ever seen.

Spurs and storax, cassava and lahn, touka beans, and turmeric, just the thing for man to use with turtle and volonia, verdigris and wax. All of these—and yams and zaffer, were freed with McKinley's mighty whacks.

The Lord be praised once a year and oftener! These articles are on the free list and do not cost the American farmer a blessed cent to bring over in two ships for every day household use. No matter about the extra price woollen goods and agricultural implements and tin plate and binding twine. It is the duty of American citizens to pay the extra duty without grumbling, but he should ever be grateful to McKinley and the republican party for the free list, a few of the important articles of which are above enumerated.

Uncle Jerry's Plan.

Secretary Rusk would select five agricultural colleges of the country in which to carry on experiments in the raising of silk worms and the preparation of the raw material. Inasmuch as the people buy yearly from abroad, $200,000,000 of silk, it is wise, perhaps, that the subject be considered. The industry of silk raising is in its infancy in this country: why was silk made free of duty? The growers of silk worms in California and other states protested, but they were not powerful enough to make themselves heard. It was unkindly said that a reason was that those engaged in the growing of coccoons were chiefly of the sex which has no vote, and all tariff favors must be made to count. When silk was put upon the free list, why was not bounty decreed for the product, as in the case of sugar? Why was it shorn of both duty and bounty, when, as shown, it rates high up in figures of importance? Of course, the high priests of protection will not deign to answer, direct, these questions. They will praise Uncle Jerry for his unique plan of furthering the interests of the enterprise and go on telling how foreign countries pay the duty on goods we buy of them and that by taking the duty off sugar the republican party saved sixty millions a year to the people!

Monumental Cheek.

In a recent number of the North American Review the question, "The Man or the Platform" was discussed in an interesting manner by a number of gentlemen in public life, democrats and republicans. Two of the opinionators, Senators Quay and Boutelle, maintained that the election of Mr. Cleveland, in 1884, was accomplished by the manipulation of returns by the democratic committee. To characterize this assertion mildly it is grossly cheeky for so thorough a manipulator as Mr. Quay to accuse the democrats of what he himself is notorious for doing, and for what his party has unblushingly done since the great overshadowing crime of 1876. A party that brazenly stole two states, Louisiana and Florida, and purchased another—Indiana, in 1880 and 1888, should not accuse another political organization of being a thief. The accusation only intensifies public opinion of the original crime. It is a parody on decency for Mr. Quay to parade himself as a purist in politics.

An Old Familiar Friend.

We have been looking for him some months, and confess to disappointment because of his dilatoriness. But it is all right now. He is here, fresh as a daisy and as fine as a fiddle. Old Mr. Southern Outrage has weathered many political storms, but seems to be able to safely carry the country on his back through the century. The Chicago Inter-Ocean brought him to town this time in an elegantly frescoed editorial from which bayonets bristled and shot guns scattered bushels of powder. 'Twas a dandy; the Old Man must feel proud. He will have a regular picins, now he is so well started, and until next November Mr. Southern Outrage will be the principal attraction at all the republican political bass-drum gatherings.

"Hark, From the Tombs"

While the living generation of mulish republicans were engaged in tearing down Harrison's prospects for a second nomination there was a chance that the scheme would be a winner. But when Clarkson comes out of Hot Springs to hitch up with that ancient mosquito, Billy Mahone, of Virginia, there is much hope for Benny. Mahone! That does settle it.

The patient application of mind to tasks that shall bless the world to-day and in day to come—long after the performers are gone to dust, is illustrated by the historians whose ambitious labors cover an ordinary lifetime. They strive not for fortune or honor, but for truth sake and the love of their self-imposed task. The majority of authors of the day write for the present and for quick returns. The historians sit aloof in their quiet places and build for the future. Francis Parkman has just completed the last volume of his great historical work "France and England in North America," after forty-five years of continuous labor upon it. John Fiske expects his "History of America" will take him his lifetime.

Mr. Brown and Mr. Kurtz are rival meat dealers. Kurtz is on Mayor Emmick's bond. Emmick's vote made Brown meat inspector and gives him a boost for the contract for supplying the Toledo asylum with meat the coming year. Mr. Kurtz understands this dovetailing business and wonders whether he would better get off Emmick's bond now, or bottle his wrath until next April and give him a whack at the spring election. It is very interesting for Vincey, any way he views the situation.

It is somewhat, and very largely, impudent for the Chicago newspapers to abuse the present congress for making large appropriations and on the same pages clamor for and demand an additional appropriation of $5,000,000 to boost the big show that will help Chicago more than all the world beside. Selfishness is a human trait which Chicagoans should not cultivate too much just now. It makes inconsistencies more glaring.

The republican blow-out at Ann Arbor University is acknowledgment that the party cannot trust honest study in regular lines to do its work on the minds of young and prospective voters. They must be inoculated with a latter-day doctrine which no man of letter would incorporate in a school text-book.

The Boston Globe mourns because thirteen colleges of the country (it doesn't locate them) are without presidents. "Are good college presidents like good Indians—all dead?" asks the Globe man. No, kind sir, they have gone west where they find better equipment and larger pay.

Now "there is a coolness between President Harrison and Vice-President Morton." The White House must be very comfortable on sultry days just now, if reports of all the coolness are true.

Senatorial courtesy does not prevent Mills from speaking when he feels like it, nor Brice from hustling all the time. They are a good pair in the new senatorial pasture field.

When Mr. Wanamaker assured the court that the civil service commission was not running the postoffice business of the country, he incidentally mentioned a comprehensive truth.

The Boston Journal tells you where to look for civil service reform: "In the platforms and messages of the republican party." Quite correct.

Massachusetts organ: "Our manufacturers as a rule are satisfied with the McKinley tariff." Ought to be; "as a rule" they made it.

Swinburne's poetic drawer—the Sisters—is said to be the poet's latest bid for prospective honor: the mantle of the laureate when Tennyson shall lay it aside. As it appears in newspaper print, and upon first reading, the Sisters will not add to the fame of the author. It is too far-fetched. An "ethereal music in words apart from their meaning," is not enough. Tennyson's words that won him crown had both music and meaning.

Lester Wallack started the "Actors' Fund" ten years ago. A resident physician is employed in every large city to attend sick and needy players. Last year 1,492 professional visits were made. The $175,000 just put to the credit of the fund as the net results of the recent fair in New York represents a great deal for the future.

While Toledo preachers were pounding base ball on Sunday 600 Presbyterian ministers en route to the Portland general assembly were taking in the sights, curiosities and wonders of Salt Lake City. Of course it was a work of necessity, but some folks may think differently.

Mayor Emmick and his man Friday, Doville, must brace up for the big tussle with the preachers and base ballists, as a summer's fun is involved in the mighty question, and Vincey wants to be in it up to his short neck.

Poor Mr. Blaine, Tom Platt and Billy Muldoon say he is ready for the presidential canter, while Washington correspondents say he is ready for the undertaker and bone yard.

Mr. John D. Rockefeller has just given $50,000 to a New York church, another evidence of the outrageous and censurable oppression of the Standard Oil Company.

The sub-treasury plan has reached the senate of the United States, but it will get no nearer than that to Uncle Sam's cash box.

The Memphis bridge, just completed, is all right. A fool has jumped from it into the Mississippi and wasn't drowned.

There is protest against Col. Shepard going as minister to Russia. We have all too few amusements in this country.

New York is in the throes of another effort—trying to raise money for memorial day exercises.

Glad to say the presence of McKinley in Toledo on Tuesday didn't affect prices, even of drinks.

UPPER SANDUSKY NEWS.

EMMICK'S DOUBLE SHUFFLE

He Will Move to Reconsider Brown's Appointment.

He Refuses to Sign Walter Brown's Commission as Meat Inspector and There's Blood on the Moon—A Session To-night.

He proposes doing another double somersault at the meeting of the police board this evening.

Last Saturday night he voted for the appointment of Walter Brown for meat inspector and Sunday he backed down to the protests of Jake Kurtz and others of that wing.

This morning Walter Brown presented his commission as meat inspector, but Mayor Emmick refused on the ground that the matter would come up again before the board at to-night's meeting.

This made Walter hot, and the mayor's ears must have tingled as he listened to the dressing down he received for this trading.

The firm of Walter Brown & Co. is dissolved, and Mr. Brown is prepared to devote his entire time to the inspectorship.

It is stated this afternoon that Vince—Voit calls him Wince—won't have it all his own way at the meeting to-night.

Charles Stager is out of the city, and neither Waring or Potter, it is said, will vote for Brown's removal. It will require a two-thirds vote to remove, but then the mayor is quite capable of making two the two thirds of four. He made three the two-thirds of five at one of the meetings.

"What will be done at the meeting of the police board to-night?" inquired a Bee of Mayor Emmick this morning.

"Nothing of importance except that the action taken at the special session Saturday evening, appointing Walter Brown meat ispector, will be reconsidered. Meat dealers and butchers all over the city are up in arms, over the appointment, and to keep peace another appointment will probably be made."

Here the corpulent head of teh city emitted a sigh that sounded like a Findlay gusher and continued:

"Whew! but it's a mighty difficult task to please everybody at the same time. Here we just settled the chief of police and detective row and this come up. Oh, there is always something to keep a muss going. No, I don't know who will be appointed."

TOLEDOANS WILL LEARN

That the Coat Don't Always Make the Man,

Or the Pants and Vest Either—It is Brain—A Shining Diminutive Example in Town.

Last evening those who sat in the front rows at the People's noticed a very large man talking earnestly with his compaion, apparently a very small boy about seven years of age. There was nothing strange in this, but when the curtain fell on the last act the very small boy arose, put a highly polished plug hat on his head, took his big parent's arm and said, "Let's go to the hotel and get a drink."

The small boy was no small boy at all, but a small man. This morning a Bee ran across him in the Toledo & Ohio Central auditor's office, and learned that he was none other than Mr. Leonard Parks, of Cleveland, special agent of one of the largest insurance companies in the country.

He is less than three feet tall, if tall it may be called, is perfectly formed, and dresses in the height of fashion. He is business from head to foot, and talks like the most profound business man imaginable.

The T. & O. C. empolyes are insured in his company, as well as those of the street car companies and other local concerns. He is business-like always and does not seem to notice the attention he attracts. It is quite true that the coat does not make the man. It's the brain after all.

Mr. Parks called at the Bee office this morning to see the type setting machines in which he much interested. He will be in town for some time and holds forth at the Boody.

THE LAST LECTURE

In the University Extension Course.

A Summary of Previous Lectures by Prof. Wright — Resolutions Adopted by the Audience.

Despite the fact that little was done in the way of advertising the last lecture in the University Extension course, High school hall was crowded last night with people anxious to hear Prof. Wright's lecture, which was a summary of the facts already expounded by him, with their conclusions, and considerable new matter. A good many people who had been unable to attend previous lectures were present and got an admirable synopsis of the whole by hearing this last lecture. The lecture was illustrated by a number of new views thrown upon the screen and commented upon by Prof. Wright. It is impossible in this limited space to give even a brief review of the lecture.

Prof. Wright spoke of the relative length of the geological periods rapidly diminishing as time progresses, and as species become more highly organized, and more complicated in their structure. In the first edition of the "Origin of Species" Darwin spoke of three hundred million years as a "mere trifle of geological time;" in the second edition he acknowledged this as a rash statement; in later editions he left it out entirely.

There is no valid objection to supposing the mode of man's creation has some sort of connection with the more highly developed animals which stand immediately below him in the scale of bodily organization and mental development. Neither have we any ground for ruling out of the process the creative energy of the Divine Being. In man, mind first became supreme, making him more independent of his instincts, and giving the first valid grounds for the continued existence of the race in the world and for a continuance of existence after death.

Prof. Compton thanked all who have helped to make the University Extension course the success it has been. The board of education, who kindly gave the room, thus saving the expense of hiring a hall; Mr. Daly, who has assisted at the door; Mr. Frank Romkey, who has illustrated the lectures, and all who have worked to bring the expenses down to the lowest possible figure, that the price of tickets might be within the reach of all. The audience unanimously adopted the following resolution, which is evidence that university extension work has been appreciated in Toledo and will be resumed next winter:

In view of the fact that the various series of University Extension lectures have contributed so much to the intellectual welfare of this city,

Resolved, That this audience wish to express their approval and appreciation of this plan of work; that we hereby give expression to the opinion that this work since its inception has done great good in rallying to a common center, the reading and thinking people of Toledo; that it has stimulated thought and awakened interest in reading and in the investigation of scientific and literary questions which will bear fruit in the way of higher educational ideals among the people. We hereby request that those who have worked so faithfully in the management of the University Extension work will take measures to continue the work at the beginning of another school year. We also desire to tender our thanks as students of the University Extension course not only to those who have managed the work, but also to the lecturers who have so ably instructed us, i. e., Profs. Adams and Dennison from Michigan University, and Prof. Wright of Oberlin College.

Outside Holders of Toledo Real Estate Meet Here

With a View to Partitioning Large Tracts of Valuable Property—Improvements Contemplated.

Henry E. Chapin, Bay City, Mich.; L. R. Chapin, Marietta, O.; H. D. Fearing, Amherst, Mass.; J. Blaymer, Cincinnati, and E. B. Phillips, Boston, are in session at the Boody to-day with a view of subdividing and partitioning large tracts of valuable property held by them jointly in this city.

The tracts comprise real estate in the Fifth, Seventh and Ninth wards and a section of Wood county known as the Chapin-Fearing estate. The object is to divide it so that it can be sold or improved.

The principal tract in this deal is located in the Seventh ward. The property extends from Bancroft street to Machen street, between Warren street and Franklin avenue.

This land will be divided into 80 lots fronting on Warren street and Franklin avenue.

Mr. Phillips was at one time president of the Lake Shore Railway company, and was also prominently connected with the old Clover Leaf railroad and other important business enterprises.

OUT IN CALIFORNIA.

Men Who Will Make the Race for Congress.

Fresno, Cal., May 18.—The democrats of the first district have re-nominated Congressman Geary for congress. Congressman Caminetti has been re-nominated in the second district.

In the fourth district James G. Maguire, of San Francisco, has been nominated.

John F. Ryland, San Jose, received the nomination in the fifth district. The third, sixth and seventh district conventions will be held to-day.

ST. LOUIS IS NOT DEAD.

St. Louis, Mo., May 18.—Work commenced to-day on the reconstruction of 23 miles of street railroad in this city, three gangs of 200 men each starting simultaneously. It is expected that the roads will be running by overhead electricity this fall, and there will then be only one horse car road left in St. Louis. The popularity of rapid transit has become so great that it is impossible to make expenses out of a horse car line in the Mound city, and even cable roads are suffering from the extreme popularity of electricity as a motive power.

ROBBED THE SAFE.

Fostoria, May 18.—(Special)—Yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock Agent Sargent, of the Hocking Valley, this city, discovered that his office safe had been robbed and $70 in money taken.

STILL THEY COME.

The Hammond Meat Company to Locate Here

And Compete with Swift and Armour—Buildings to be Erected—Looking for a Location.

The Hammond Packing company has representatives in this city who are looking about for a suitable location on which to build and conduct a branch house for the sale and delivery of their meat, similar to the concerns run by the Swift and Armour companies at present.

A location has not yet been decided upon, but it is desired to secure property on or near a railroad where side tracks can be built to facilitate the handling and unloading of meats.

Options have been secured on several locations, one near the Clover Leaf depot.

"Competition is the life of trade," and the Hammond company will be welcomed to Toledo.

DIED AT AKRON.

Akron, O., May 18.—Rev. Dr. Gilbert De La Matyr, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, of this city, died yesterday afternoon, shortly before 1 o'clock, after an illness of 10 days.

The people who elect representatives in congress should make a mental note of the cases of absenteeism that need to be extended permanently. It would be well to keep these persons at home.—Philadelphia Record.

An eastern journal wastes space in trying to prove that the owners of the Inman line were not actuated by motives of patriotism in seeking a chance to run the United States flag at the mastheads of their vessels. The organ may save itself further trouble. Ships are not built by private enterprise for the purpose of displaying patriotism. Ship owners are not in business for fun. They are like persons engaged in other industries and look for the largest return for the least labor. This is the law of their being and accounts for the desire of the Inman line directors to take advantage of the United States subsidy offered by the billion-dollar congress. And this action leaves it for the republicans to explain what has so suddenly become of that English subsidy which has been so much talked of.—Chicago Times.

THEIR HALL OPENED.

The Auburndale Knights of Pythias

Have a House-Warming That Sits Them Up as Entertainers of a True Knightly Order.

Last evening the new home of the Steadman lodge, K. of P., at Auburndale was opened in an auspicious manner. The building was erected by J. L. Fox, an earnest member of the order, and it has been leased for five years to the lodge and fitted up entirely for its convenience. A spacious ball room takes up the second floor, and the third floor is devoted to lodge, ante and cloak rooms. All the apartments were profusely decorated in the national colors, festoons, flags and shields.

The exercises, over which C. C. Lienweber presided gracefully, were opened by an orchestral selection. William Beatty delivered the address of welcome in a few words. Miss Genevieve Carpenter gave a recitation in her usual excellent manner, and after a pleasing song by Miss Gasser, appeared again in the Curse of Leah, assisted by Mr. M. T. McMahan. Her work was strong. Leah is no easy character to interpret, and nothing but praise can be bestowed upon Miss Carpenter. Her efforts were all the more appreciated in consequence of the inability of Mr. McMahan to give her the necessary assistance. He lacked force, and had not the best conception of the lines he was uttering. He was also too long in answering his cues. Mr. McMahan is possessed of talent, but it will take more earnest study to bring it out so that it may be appreciated.

Miss Blake sang a very pretty solo, and the orchestra rounded out the program. Dancing followed and the guests tripped lightly through 20 numbers until the last "Home, Sweet Home" was reached.

Dainty refreshments were served by the ladies of St. Andrew's mission.

The committees that so successfully arranged and carried out the affair were composed of the following gentlemen. Arrangement committee—C. C. Leinweber, E. A. Brown, J. Logue, D. R. Spaulding, H. A. Marion, Robt. Duguid, H. A. Callon.

Reception committee—M. B. Haines, J. M. Youngs, J. Peck, J. T. Kellog, Wm. Hodgins.

Floor committee—H. A. Marion, C. C. Leinweber, H. D. Spaulding, E. A. Brown.

Steadman lodge will now begin to do business, having an active membership and all the accessories for the rendering of their work. The members are entitled to credit for the enterprise they have shown. Auburndalians are to be congratulated on the completion of such a fine structure as was opened to them last nigh.

EPWORTH LEAGUE CHAPTERS

Gave Two Enjoyable Concerts Last Evening,

One at the German M. E. Church, the Other at St. John's—The Participants and What They Did.

Two very successful entertainments were given last evening by the Epworth league chapters of St. John's and the German M. E. churches. The latter church at the corner of Walnut and Ontario streets was crowded, and a most enjoyable program of twelve numbers was rendered. A very pretty quartette by Sullivan, "Hush My Baby," opened the concert, Misses Ecker and Bickle and Messrs. Rodeck and Wuerfel being the vocalists. Mr. Hugo Rodeck followed with a solo, Standchen rendered in a finished manner. Miss Geneveive Carpenter, who had already appeared earlier in the evening at Auburndale and arrived just in time for her number after a hot chase over the country, delighted her hearers with a recitation that was enthusiastically received.

Arthur E. Trost, who of late is the recipient of many compliments for his excellent work on the violin, executed two compositions of Carl Bohm in his usual finished style.

Max Ecker gave Wollenhaupt's charming composition, The Last Smile, in an artistic manner on the piano. Miss Ecker and Mr. Wuerfel sang a duet nicely. A recitation was given by Miss Anna Kuebler in a style that proved her the possessor of more than ordinary talents in that direction.

One of the most enjoyable numbers was the bass solo of Mr. Wuerfel, and the soprano solo of Miss Martini Ecker was equally pleasing.

Messrs. Trost and Rodeck apeared again on the program and a quartette selection closed the concert that was artistic throughout.

Toledo seems to be peculiarly endowed with musical talent and it is no effort at all to arrange half a dozen or more concerts in one evening and have them all equally enjoyable. The concert at St. John's was also a big success, although the attendance was not as large as at the first church named. A piano duet by Miss Flora Van Garder and Mrs. L. S. Churchill opened the feast. Mr. J. Emerson sang a solo that was well received, and an instrumental quartette followed by Messrs. J. Uhl, P. Uhl, L. T. Canfield, and V. E. Lott. Miss Emma Leek gave a pleasing recitation, and Miss Mame Rendy closed the first part of the program with a solo, Valse de Concert, that was received with hearty applause.

Messrs. Canfield and Lott played a cornet duet. Mrs. E. H. Mauzy sang in her usual sweet manner, a charming solo. One of the most enjoyable numbers, and one of the most novel, was the ladies' quartette, consisting of Misses Carrie Beatty, Jennie Gillmore, Lizzie Hill, and Sylvia Briggs. A mixed quartette is usual, but one composed of ladies entirely is quite the reverse, and was as enjoyable as it was novel. The instrumental quartette closed the concert with another selection, and so ended a pleasant evening.

FOUR HUNDRED

Y. P. S. C. E. Members Go to Perrysburg

And Hold a Union Meeting at the Town Hall—Summary of the Program Observed.

About four hundred Christian Endeavors attended the union meeting at Perrysburg last night, which was held at the Town hall. At East Toledo a large number joined the happy throng, and swelled the chorus which was singing Y. P. S. C. E. songs, accompanied by the Y. M. C. A. band.

The services of the evening were opened by Rev. J. S. Fitterer, of Bucyrus, formerly of Perrysburg. Mr. Permar lead the singing. Mr. Charles Whitaker addressed the assembly and told them what Christian Endeavorers are and what they do. Rev. E. E. Williams then talked on "The Personal Obligations of the Y. P. S. C. E." He maintained that as individuals we were apt to shift the responsibility on the organization or the churches, as a body, rather than to fulfill personal obligations. This was followed by a selection by the Aerion quartet, which was nicely rendered. The quartet is from the Fifth Presbyterian church and comprises Henry Jewett, Ed Stetcher, Percy Oblinger and Pearl Cassidy.

The Relation of Christian Endeavor to the Church" was Rev. S. D. Conger's subject, who thinks that many of the C. E.'s attend their own meetings and neglect the church. He made a plea for better attendance at the prayer meetings as a keeping of a part of the Y. P. S. C. E. pledge.

Miss Yesslin read an able paper on "The Work of the Look-Out Committee," as did also Miss Jessie Foster on "The Work of the Prayer Meeting Committee." "Work of the Social Committee" was an interesting paper by Miss Smith and Mrs. G. Brown gave excellent plans for missionary work.

Mr. C. L. France read an article on "Associate Members." He also mentioned that the state convention would be held at Akron June 27, 28, 29 and 30.

The last 10 minutes of the meeting were devoted to consecration services. The occasion was an exceedingly pleasant one, and upon reaching Toledo the young people expressed themselves as satisfied with the trip.

Among those who attended were Rev. Buckingham, Rev. Dyer, Mrs. Chas. Whitaker, Mr. Rhondes, the Misses Burge, Dallas, Ridman, Blanche Sexton, Chas. Webster, C. France, May Eddy, Fannie Eddy, George Cole, Anna Webster, Emma Murray, Jessie Marshal, Aura Myers and others.

The efforts of the department could not save the building and attention was paid to the surrounding buildings. The building and machinery were owned by A. W. The stock was owned by M. and L. S. Churchill and was covered by $5,000 insurance.

Barn belonging to Jacob Wetzel, destroyed, not insured.

Geo. Albert's barn, destroyed.

Williams' barn, Mrs. Ewing's residence, James Pierce's hotel, Geo. W. Button's residence, Mayor Roach's house and barn, Wm. Comstock's dwelling, and

It was a narrow escape for the town. In most cases the damage was very slight.

CAUGHT IN TOLEDO.

Albert Allcot, Who Robbed a Safe

In the Railroad Depot at Fostoria Yesterday Noon—Quick Work by Local Detectives.

Yesterday, shortly after noon, a man by the name of Albert Allcot, who had been hanging around the Toledo & Ohio Central depot at Fostoria, took advantage of the agent's attention being called in another direction to sneak to the safe and extract some $65. He immediately boarded a train and was flying along toward Toledo when the money was missed.

The Toledo detectives were notified by telegraph, and a very meagre description of the man given. Chief Detective Spore detailed Special Detectives O'Brien and Kimes on the case, and at 6:30 o'clock this morning they found the man peacefully reposing at Hotel Union. He was placed under arrest and the Fostoria police notified. This morning an official arrived from that city and took Allcot back. Most of the money was secured.

WAKENING.

The broad white curve of the beach,
That lies like a bended arm;
The amorous waves that seem ever a-reach
To kiss it and die a-calm.

And still the hovering sky,
And still the splendid day,
And the far white sails, and the seagull's cry,
And the sun-path over the bay.

How many and many a time
Have I questioned the stranded shells,
If they knew, perchance, of the magical clime,
Where the answer of dreaming dwells.

And harking the water's kiss,
Content have I dreamed alone,
In the glorious thrall of a day like this,
And a wistful want unknown.

There speed the out-bound ships,
Here lieth the sunshine warm,
With the spent waves pressing their curving lips,
On the white shore's bended arm.

Then for what is the day more fair?
Why bluer the deeps of space?
Oh, the sun on the gold of a woman's hair—
The love in her eyes—her face.

On Mount Washington, in New Hampshire, lives a little colony of butterflies that never descend below 2,000 feet from the summit. It is supposed that the remote ancestors of this curious race were stranded on the mountain at the close of the glacial period.

The late Duke of Hesse made a great deal of fuss over his court bills, and whenever one came off would send around a big omnibus to pick up such guests as were too poor to keep their own carriages. In Darmstadt it did not follow that because a family had the right of presentation at court and of invitations to its ceremonials that they were in a position to hire a hack to carry them to the palace.

An odd belief is current among the Roman populace that Beatrice Cenci has finally got into heaven. The legend was that when she was executed she went to purgatory, and that she was to stay there as long as the Borghese family, to whom the Pope distributed the Cenci property, kept it with profit and enjoyment. The Borghese are now almost ruined, and so it is believed and reported in Rome that Beatrice's punishment is ended.

In the northern part of the historic town of Castine, on the banks of the Bagaduce river, is a house with a history. It was built about the year 1781 by John Perkins and Captain Thatcher Avery and was at that time the most imposing mansion in that section. In 1814 the British occupied it as quarters for officers of rank, and under the mantel shelf in the principal room is the name of Lieutenant Henry Bishop of the British army, carved in bold letters.

The nom de plume of the late Friedrich Martin von Bodenstedt, the well-known German writer, was "Mirza Schaffy," and the "Songs and Sayings of Mirza Schaffy" have obtained great popularity among Germans. Von Bodenstedt was acknowledged to be the best translator of Shakespeare that Germany has ever had. Before his translations appeared Tieck and Schlegel were recognized as facile princeps in that field, but Bodenstedt's work was so masterful and of such excellence that his Shakespeare has become the German standard.

The true nature and cause of the aurora is not well understood. It is undoubtedly a manifestation of some form of electric energy, and, apparently, is influenced by the physical condition of the sun, but beyond this we know very little. Its occurrence is said to indicate a change in the weather, but no such influence has ever been observed. Beyond interfering occasionally with the transmition of telegraphic messages, we have no reason to believe that the aurora has any influence upon the earth and its inhabitants, either for good or evil. We are now approaching one of the periods of greatest activity, and during the next year or two may expect the frequent occurrence of auroras of unusual brilliancy.

HIS PREMONITION.

It was a sweltering night early in September in Florida. The usual night breeze had not set in and all nature was panting for breath. I was sitting at the table in the starboard steerage of the ship T——, writing the last letter to my sweetheart far to the northward; the candles, our only light, burned languidly for lack of air, and I was in light costume.

A hand was laid upon my shoulder and the kindly voice of a dear messmate requested me to put aside my writing and come for a walk.

"The moon is just getting up and I want to talk to you."

The speaker was one of the finest specimens of a man that I have ever known—tall, broad and fair-haired—well beloved for his unfailing good-nature and his merry moods, our most popular man. I protested that I must finish my letter, and that it was too utterly hot to walk, and I begged to be excused. But there was something so earnest in the man's appeal, repeated very gravely, that it fixed my attention.

"Come, I want to talk to you about something very particularly; I must talk to you, and at once."

So I, rather impatiently, put the closing words to my letter, and hurriedly getting into some clothes joined him on deck, and we left the ship. There was a long avenue lined with yucca trees leading to the village, and we were soon walking under those in the moonlight.

"I suppose you think it rather strange that I should insist upon your coming out to-night, but I must talk to you."

"Well, what is this most important business?" I inquired.

"I want you to listen to me with close attention," said Bob. "I am not going to have any argument with you as to the sense of what I am going to tell you. I want you to promise me to take charge of my effects and forward them to this address," handing me a paper.

"Why, what do you mean? What has got into your head? Going to desert the ship?" I asked jokingly.

"Nothing at all of that; we must be serious. I want to tell you, my best friend, that I have had my warning, and I shall be dead in three days from this time."

"Nonsense!" I exclaimed. "What folly is this?"

"'Tis not nonsense, and you must not try to ridicule my belief. I repeat to you that in three days from this hour I shall be buried in the Gulf of Mexico."

"Stuff!" I said. "What has possessed you to get into this morbid state?"

"Now listen—the members of my family have always been warned. I have had my warning. What is the use of trying to persuade me as to the folly of it? The main point, and the only one, is: Will you accept the responsibility that I impose on you?"

"Why, certainly," I said, holding his arm closer, for we always walked arm in arm, "but tell me: here man, with machinery deranged, without coal, without orders from the department to go to sea; how could the ship be ready for sea in three days, much less be in the Gulf then?"

"Nevertheless," he replied, "we will be there and I shall be buried three nights from this time in the Gulf of Mexico."

There was no use of further protest. I knew him well, and I knew from his manner that further talk would be of no avail, so I tried another tack.

"At any rate, you're in good shape so far; so let's go on to F——'s and get a glass or two of grog and smoke a cigar and have no more of this to-night. And assuming a gaiety I did not feel—I hummed: "On such a night as this, oh love long lost!"

He tried to enter into the spirit of my proposal, and we went to the little club, I may almost call it, where the good woman, the wife of the pilot, allowed us to keep a private bottle or two and a box of cigars; and I talked gayly to her and to the others there and we rallied "Bob" about some of his little foibles.

He took it all quite pleasantly, and I had hoped he had forgotten the talk of a little while before. We left the house about 9 o'clock, and sauntered along toward the ship. He suddenly turned to me and said:

"It has got me now."

"What?" I cried, for he had thoroughly alarmed me.

"The fever."

Well, I stopped, held his hands and felt his pulse; he was as hot and as dry as a "lime-burner's wig," and taking him by the hand, I said:

"Now let us walk fast and break this fever right off."

We did so; I was soon as wet as if I had been in a drenching shower; but he never turned a hair. Hot and flushed, I got him to the ship, turned him into his bunk and summoned the doctor. Before 11 o'clock he was delirious, and his disease was yellow fever.

The next day came orders to hurry to sea. Everybody busy, a coaling ship putting engines in order, taking provisions, etc., and the following day we left the yard and so it happened that, on the third day after our talk, he died. And we stood about the deck in the falling rain—a sad, sad group while the captain read by the light of the deck lanterns the service of the dead, and his messmates raised the gangplank and saw all that remained of noble old Bob committed to the deep.

His prediction came true; it was three days exactly when he left us, and I have never seen so many tearful men together as I did that rainy September night on the Gulf of Mexico.—St. Louis Star Sayings.

FORTUNES MADE BY ACCIDENT.

Wild, Weird Tales Which Originated in the African Diamond Fields.

In connection with the diamond discoveries in South Africa, and the fabulous wealth which the mines have since produced, the wide region of fiction offers no parallel instances of the extraordinary manner in which these rich finds have been made, says the Yankee Blade.

It is now a matter of history generally well known how a commercial traveler and trader, by the name of O'Reilly, in casually stopping at the house of a boer near Pnell, Griqualand West, saw some children playing with a number of exceedingly pretty pebbles, and on asking his Dutch host whether he could take one, he was promptly told that he could do so, as "the children had plenty more of them."

O'Reilly took the stone to Grahamstown, where an expert examined it, and it was at once pronounced to be a diamond of the first water. It was sold to Sir Philip Wodehouse, the then governor of the cape, for $3,000, who afterward resold it, as was stated at the time, for $25,000. This incident led to the discovery of the River diggings, but it was not until about two years later that the great De Beer mine was brought to light.

A Dutchman named De Beer had built himself the usual wattle and daub house on his farm, but it had been erected for quite a long period before some inquiring prospector found that the rough cast used for the walls actually contained diamonds. The farm speedily changed hands for $10,000. It now, with its neighboring mines, produces over $15,000,000 of diamonds annually, the total wealth from this discovery to date being probably over $250,000,000.

However, the most curious instance of how unexpectedly hidden wealth can be revealed is connected with the discovery of the Wesselton mines, the richest of which were only found out less than two years ago. Wesselton is a farm situated not five miles from Kimberly, and has over and over again been thoroughly prospected by experts. It remained for a single boer to be the instrument in bringing the precious stones from nature's storehouse to the eyes of the world.

Riding out at sundown to bring in his horses from the veldt, where they had been running all day, he saw a small animal called a "meercat" (it somewhat resembles a weasel, and burrows in colonies like rabbits) industriously scraping some earth from its hole. Some peculiarity of the ground so thrown up led the Dutchman to fill his handkerchief with it, and after he had stabled his horses, by the dismal light of a small lamp he examined the nature of the earth. To his astonishment and delight he found a 34-karat diamond in the sands.

Further search at the meercat's hole revealed other diamonds, and six months ago no less than $2,250,000 was refused for the farm. The great De Beers' company recently acquired a quarter share in the same for $175,000, and since the accidental discovery above referred to over 200,000 karats of fine white diamonds have been extracted from the mine.

Recently there has been great excitement at Vryburg, Bechuanaland, owing to a local hotel keeper having, during the process of sinking a well behind his premises, discovered a small diamond in the soil. The neighborhood is being thoroughly explored, and who knows but what this accidental find in the well may not be the forerunner of further unlimited wealth?

ABOUT PEOPLE.

Commodore Henry Bruce of Massachusetts who entered the United States navy in 1816 has been "unemployed" for 55 years.

Ferdinand Ward, late of Sing Sing, has purchased an elegant $50,000 residence in Stamford, Conn., and will soon go into business in New York.

Senator Hiscock is fond of athletic sports, and as a sprint runner has done good work in the Columbia club, of which he was at one time the most fleet-footed member.

Mrs. Dandridge and Mrs. Harriet Lane Johnson, widow of Henry Johnson of Baltimore, are the only survivors of the long line of distinguished women who presided over the White House previous to Gen. Grant's term.

Mrs. Jenkins and Mrs. Carleton, who have been elected to the national republican convention from Wyoming, each has a husband to stay at home and mind house and children while the wives are helping to set up a ticket at Minneapolis.

"Uncle Jerry" Rusk, secretary of agriculture, never misses a game of base ball that comes his way. He was one of the best players in Wisconsin in his day, and isn't above mounting an umpire now if a question that he considers unfair is rendered.

Jay Gould carries in his purse a 10-cent piece which he declares was at one time all that stood between him and a deadbroke condition.

Ex-Senator Ingalls will make his Europeans tour directly after the Minneapolis convention. He will return in time to participate in the presidential campaign.

Ex-Chief Justice William Lindsay, it is said, was raised to the highest judicial office in the Blue Grass state without ever having had a real law case. While yet a novice he was elected sheriff and then state senator. Then, almost before he knew it, he was a supreme court judge, and finally chief justice. Then he declined re-election, saying: "I want to begin to practice; that's what I started out to do, and I want to see how it goes."

COL. HAYNES.

Sandusky County Again Talking Congress.

Fremont, O., May 18.—(Special)—As the congressional convention approaches there is considerable discussion among the democrats of Sandusky county on the possibilities of Col. Wm. E. Haynes being again a candidate for the position he is now holding.

Col. Haynes in an interview some time ago said that he would not seek the nomination, but not saying that he would refuse.

THE FATHER OF MANY ILLS.

Constipation leads to a multitude of physical troubles. It is generally the result of carelessness or indifference to the simplest rule of health. Eugene McKay, of Brantford, Ont., writes:

"I had for several years been a sufferer from constipation, had taken a great many different remedies, some of which did me good for a time, but only for a time, then my trouble came back worse than ever. I was induced by a friend, whom Brandreth's Pills had benefited, to try them. Took two each night for a week, then one every night for about six weeks. Since that time I have not experienced the slightest difficulty whatever, and my bowels move regularly every day. I believe firmly that for sluggishness of the bowels and biliousness Brandreth's Pills are far superior to any other."

THE FARLOW TRIAL

It Has Commenced in Defiance.

Evidence Favorable to the Prisoner—The Wiley Murder Case to Come Up Next.

Defiance, O., May 18.—(Special)—The court of common pleas is grinding slowly in this city. The most important case thus far is that of the state v F. L. Farlow.

Charges are preferred against him for embezzlement and forgery, coming for trial in the order named.

The trial for embezzlement was commenced yesterday. He is charged with having appropriated to his own use $128 collected while attorney at Hicksville for the Wm. Deering Co. of Chicago on a note held by them on W. S. Carey, of this county.

The most important witness for the prosecution was T. B. Woosley, collector for this state for the Deering Co.

B. F. Enos, F. M. Thompson, W. A. Corey, Sheriff Ewing and Mrs. Farlow were all on the witness stand.

Harry Willey, the man awaiting his trial for murder, was also brought in to testify.

From the evidence it looks very much like Farlow would be acquitted on this charge. The trial for forgery will immediately follow, succeeded next week by the Willey case.

THE SWORN TORMENTORS OF THE INQUISITION.

What cared they for the groans of the victim as he lay stretched upon the rack? Yet people whose hearts are neither as hard as the nether mill stone, nor whose fortitude is excessive, often have no pity on themselves voluntarily incur life-long torture by neglect. Rheumatism, the most agonizing and obstinate of complaints is, perhaps, more frequently neglected in its incipiency than any other, the preliminary twinges being set down to the credit of "a cold in the bones" which will pass away of itself. Singular fatuity—fatal delusion! Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is a potent safeguard against the terrible inroads of this insidious and dangerous malady—dangerous because of its proneness to attack the heart, the seat of life. Neuralgia is also effectually counteracted and relieved by the Bitters. Malaria, kidney complaints, debility, indigestion, biliousness, la grippe, loss of appetite and the inability to sleep are among the complaints eradicable with this genial corrective.

Garfield Tea cures constipation, dyspepsia and sick headache; restores the complexion and saves doctors' bills.

MR. LEWIS, SIR!

The State Labor Commissioner Puts on Lugs,

And Airs His Importance—He Comes to Fire Superintendent Murphy Who Won't be Fired.

State Commissioner Lewis arrived in the city yesterday for the purpose of firing Chas. W. Murphy from the office of superintendent of the free employment office, but he has undertaken a contract that he may be unable to fulfill. He was evidently out "wid de gang" last night, at least he was not at his hotel up to 1:30 this morning.

Talk about red-tapeism. Why, his highness cannot be approached with a 40-foot pole unless your card is sent in in advance. He held a levee in the outer office of the Free Employment office and he "received" according to appointment, although he failed to keep several appointments this morning.

He makes no bones about his mission. He wants the Free Employment office cleared by June 1. He said so this morning and Superintendent Murphy told him just as plainly that he had no intention of going until his term expired, which will be March 24, 1893.

Mr. Murphy showed the commissioner the commission, which reads as follows:

Acting under the authority conferred by section 308a R. S., you are hereby appointed Superintendent of Toledo Free Public Employment office, and your term of office commences March 24, 1891.

JOHN M'BRIDE,
Commissioner of Labor.

The Lord High Executioner does not care for a little thing like a commission. The rascals must get out.

Superintendent Murphy said this morning he should remain until charges are preferred and proven. He is backed up in this position by the following letter from Ex-Commissioner McBride:

Columbus, O., May 4, 1892.

Chas. W. Murphy, Toledo, Ohio.

Dear Friend: In reply to yours, allow me to say that I understand that Mr. Bosterdes has resigned and will leave his office June 1st. He, and all of you, should have resisted any effort to remove you.

The law under which you were first appointed fixed no term of service. Hence when the law was supplemented, a March, 1891, I assumed the right of ending your first term and then re-appointed for a full term of two years under the new law. This I had a right to do, because in the absence of a fixed term of office under the original law I could and did limit the term. The new law under which you received your second appointment gives you a two year term, and provides that you cannot be removed within that time except for good and sufficient cause, and this simply means, in the eyes of the law, that you neglect to perform, or are incapable of performing, the duties of your office. Political reasons will not hold good under the law, and to prove inability or neglect necessitates impeachment. It would be well for all of the superintendents and clerks to arrange for a fight against removal, and to do this each one should try, through democratic clubs at their homes, to secure a good lawyer to fight the case by serving an injunction up Commissioner Lewis, the moment an effort is made to oust you or all of you. Bosterdes made a mistake in handing in his resignation, and I have so told him.

The democrats in each of the cities having employment offices should furnish lawyers for the superintendents and clerks to make this fight.

JOHN M'BRIDE.

Then there is another hitch. Fortunately the council through which the salary is paid is democratic, and if Mr. Lewis insists on pushing the present superintendent to extremities, he may be obliged to pay the salary out of his own pocket or else have the office abolished.

An alderman said this morning: "I will favor withdrawing the ordinance which provides for the payment of the salaries if Lewis insists on turning our man out now."

The following are the candidates: C. W. Otis, Gus Smith, Tom Button, J. H. Chilcotte, Major G. Flock, Capt. Kissinger. Smith is in the lead, and may eventually get the plum, but he will have to wait until April next.

This afternoon Lewis in an interview gave Superintendent Murphy until 3 o'clock to hand in his resignation. The following is Mr. Murphy's prompt and pertinent reply:

Toledo, May 17.

To W. F. Lewis, State Labor Commissioner:

Dear Sir: After consulting the best legal authority in this city and also conferring with the president of the board of aldermen and councilmen and city auditor I am satisfied my commission as superintendent of this office does not expire until March, 1893. Therefore I shall continue to act as superintendent until such time as said commission expires. I will endeavor to keep the office up to its present high standing in this community, and leave the rest in your hands.

Respectfully,
C. W. MURPHY.

COMMANDER MACK

Issues His First Departmental Order,

Announcing the Ohio Staff, Together With His Appointment of Adjutant-General—Memorial Day.

I. F. Mack, department commander of Ohio's Grand Army, is out with his first official circulars, and they are given below:

General Order No. 1.

Headquarters Department of Ohio,
Grand Army of the Republic,
Sandusky, Ohio, May 16, 1892.

I. The twenty-sixth annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, department of Ohio, held at Piqua, May 10, 11 and 12, having elected me department commander, I hereby assume command of the department.

II. To the comrades individually, and to the encampment as the representative of the 45,000 members of our associatoin, I return my most heartfelt thanks for the high honor, an honor accepted with many misgivings that I may not be able to meet the expectations of the comrades of this department. The success of the new administration, fortunately, does not depend on the wisdom and zeal of the department commander alone, but on the united efforts of all the officers of the department, the officers of the posts, and the comrades generally. United for the single purpose of perfecting our organization we can make the new year a glorious one in the history of this department, and the department commander appeals in his first order to every post and every comrade to aid him in his work.

III. The encampment selected the following comrades for the other official positions and they will be respected and obeyed as such:

Senior vice commander—J. W. R. Cline, Mitchell post No. 45, Springfield.

Junior vice commander—Wm. H. Surles, Gen. Lyon post No. 44, East Liverpool.

Department Chaplain—Rev. John Tenny, Niebling Post No. 20, Weston.

Medical Director—Dr. John T. Booth, Commodore Foote Post No. 200, Cincinnati.

Council of Administration—Francis A. Kitchen, Forsyth post No. 15, Toledo; O. G. Daniels, Joe Hooker Post No. 21, Mt. Vernon; Aaron Spangler, Mitchell post No. 45, Springfield; John B. Sampson, Fred C. Jones post No. 401, Cincinnati; Carl N. Bancroft, Joshua M. Wells post No. 451, Columbus.

IV. The following appointments have been made on the staff of the department commander:

Assistant Adjutant General—Josh B. Davis, McMeens post No. 19, Sandusky.

Assistant Quartermaster General—Thos B. Tucker, McMeens post No. 19, Sandusky.

Department Inspector—Creed Milstead, Bailey post No. 164, Portsmouth.

Other appointments will be announced in a few days. All communications for the department commander, assistant adjutant general and assistant quartermaster general should be addressed to Sandusky, Ohio.

V. The department commander cannot too earnestly appeal to all comrades to him in every way possible to perfect the organization. Let recruiting begin at once and be continued to the end of the year. Every honorably discharged union veteran, who is worthy of our comradeship, should be appealed to to become one of us, not only for his own benefit, but for the good he can do to our needy and destitute comrades and the widows and orphans of those who have passed away.

By command of I. F. MACK,
Department Commander.
JOSH B. DAVIS,
Assistant Adjutant General.

MEMORIAL DAY.

General Order No .2.

Headquarters Dep't of Ohio,
Grand Army of the Republic,
Sandusky, O., May 16, 1892.

Memorial day is near at hand and the department commander calls attention to the generla order of the commander-in-chief already sent to posts, reminding the comrades of the obligation due to the memory of our deceased comrades. The observance of Memorial day is a duty imposed on each post, and every loyal comrades should esteem it a privilege to take part in the services arranged by this post.

Memorial day was created by the Grand Army of the Republic. It is the one day set apart by common consent and popular approval, and in many of the states by special statutes, to the Grand Army of the Republic. All civic, military and other patriotic organizations should be cordially invited to unite with the posts in its observance. In this department it is a legal holiday, and citizens generally should be urged to suspend business during the time devoted to Memorial services.

Post chaplains are required to make special reports of the observance of Memorial day to the department chaplain, Rev. John Tenny, Niebling post, No. 20, Weston, O.

Let no grave of a comrade who has answered the last roll call be forgotten. On each and all some loving tribute should be placed that the world may know that the memory of our dead is still dear to the hearts of the living comrades. By our presence at the ceremonies and our active interest in the observance of the day, we can show our fellow-citizens that fraternity of feeling binds us together in one grand patriotic organization.

By command of
I. F. Mack,
Department Commander.
Josh B. Davis, Assistant Adjt. General.

HONORABLE SUCCESSFUL TREATMENT

DR. F. D. CLARKE, Merrill Block, Cor. Woodward & Jefferson Ave., Detroit, Mich.

No Money Required of Responsible Parties to Commence Treatment

DOCTORS FRANCE AND OTTMAN,

Formerly of New York, now the Celebrated Examining Physicians of THE FRANCE MEDICAL AND SURGICAL INSTITUTE, Columbus, Ohio, by request of many friends and patients, have decided to visit Toledo

Dr. Ottman, Saturday, May 21.

Dr. France, Thursday, June 9.

Consultation and Examination Free and Strictly Confidential in the Private Parlor of the Burnett House from 10 a. m. to 9 p. m., one day only.

The doctors describe the different diseases better than the sick can themselves. It is a wonderful gift for any one to possess. Their diagnostic powers have created wonders throughout the country.

The France Medical and Surgical Institute of Columbus, Ohio, is the only Medical Institute in the State incorporated with a Capital of $300,000.00.

FRANCE MEDICAL AND SURGICAL INSTITUTE,

38 & 40 W. Gay St., one block N. of State House, Columbus, O. Incorporated, 1886. Capital, $300,000.

DRS. FRANCE AND OTTMAN, of New York, the well known and successful Specialists in Chronic Diseases and Diseases of the Eye and Ear, on account of their large practice in Ohio, have established the FRANCE MEDICAL INSTITUTE, where all forms of Chronic, Nervous and Private Diseases will be successfully treated on the most Scientific principles. They are ably assisted by a full corps of eminent Physicians and Surgeons, each one being a well known specialist in his profession

CANCER positively cured without pain or use of the knife, by a new method.

IMPORTANT TO LADIES.—DR. FRANCE, after years of experience, has discovered the greatest cure known for all diseases peculiar to the sex. Female diseases positively cured by the new remedy, OLIVE BLOSSOM. The cure is effected by home treatment. Entirely harmless and easily applied. Consultation Free and Strictly Confidential. Correspondence promptly answered.

YOUNG MEN—Who have become victims of solitary vice, that dreadful and destructive habit, which annually sweeps to an untimely grave thousands of young men of exalted talent and brilliant intellect, may call with confidence.

DRS. FRANCE AND OTTMAN, after years of experience, have discovered the greatest cure known for weakness in the back and limbs, involuntary discharges, impotency, general debility, nervousness, languor, confusion of ideas, palpitation of the heart, timidity, trembling, dimness of sight, or giddiness, diseases of the head, throat, nose, or skin, affections of the liver, lungs, stomach, or bowels—those terrible disorders arising from the solitary vice of youth—and secret practices, blighting their most radiant hopes or anticipations, rendering marriage impossible. Take one candid thought before it is too late. A week or month may place your case beyond the reach of hope. Our method of treatment will speedily and permanently cure the most obstinate case, and absolutely restore perfect manhood.

TO MIDDLE-AGED MEN.—There are many from the age of 30 to 50 who are troubled with frequent evacuations of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight burning or smarting sensation, weakening the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. On examination of the urinary deposits, a ropy sediment will be found, or the color will be a thin or milkish hue. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is a second stage of seminal weakness. We will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

DISEASES OF WOMEN.—We have a special department, thoroughly organized, and devoted exclusively to the treatment of diseases of women. Every case consulting our specialists, whether by letter or in person, is given the most careful and considerate attention. Important cases (and we get few which have not baffled the skill of all the home physicians) have the benefit of a full council of skilled specialists. In treatment of diseases peculiar to females, [illegible] has been marked, over two-thirds of our [illegible] ng ladies, old, young, married, single [illegible] door. Our method is entirely free from objectionable features of the general practitioner, namely, "Local treatment." We seldom find it necessary. We prepare remedies, constitutional and local, as the case demands, and instruct ladies how to treat themselves.

MARRIAGE.—Married persons, or young men contemplating marriage, aware of physical weakness, loss of procreative powers, impotency, or any other disqualification, speedily restored.

PRIVATE DISEASES.—Blood Poison, Venereal Taint, Gleet, Stricture, Seminal Emissions, Loss of Sexual Power, Weakness of Sexual Organs, Want of Desire in Male or Female, whether from imprudent habits of youth or sexual habits of mature years, or any cause that debilitates the sexual functions, speedily and permanently cured. Consultation free and strictly confidential. Absolute cures guaranteed. Medicines sent free from observation to all parts of the United States.

EPILEPSY, OR FITS.—Positively cured by a new and never-failing method. Testimonials furnished.

FREE EXAMINATION OF THE URINE.—Each person applying for medical treatment should send or bring from 2 to 4 ounces of urine (that passed first in the morning preferred), which will receive a careful chemical and microscopical examination, and if requested a written analysis will be given.

Persons ruined in health by unlearned pretenders, who keep trifling with them month after month, giving poisonous and injurious compounds, should apply immediately. Delays are dangerous.

WONDERFUL CURES Perfected in old cases which have been neglected or unskillfully treated. No experiments or failures. Parties treated by mail or express, but where possible, personal consultation is preferred. Curable cases guaranteed. No risks incurred.

Cases and correspondence confidential. Treatment sent C. O. D. to any part of U. S. List of 130 questions free. Address, with postage, DR. FRANCE, Nos. 38 and 40 W. Gay St., Columbus, O.

REAL ESTATE EXCHANGE

Meeting Called for the Purpose of Forming One in Toledo.

To be Held at the Boody House Thursday Night.

Some of the National Board Officers Will be Present — Prospectus Issued by the Board of Control.

For several months the Bee has been persistently advocating the organization of a real estate board in Toledo, to protect and promote the better interests of Toledo by the induction of harmony and unanimity of action among the real estate dealers and property owners.

At last the matter has taken definite form and in a very short time Toledo will likely have a real estate board.

To-morrow it is expected that Mr. J. C. Bartholf, assistant secretary of the national association, will be in the city, and in the evening will meet the real estate dealers at the Boody house. Homer Warren, of Detroit, and A. C. Horton, of Cincinnati, are also expected to be present.

The most marvelous century in human progress is this, the nineteenth, the last decade of which is now passing into history. As the historian of the future shall take a retrospective view of these unrivaled one hundred years, and make a careful study and analysis of the forces contributing to the matchless record of achievement which mankind has made during this period along the highway of human advancement, he will discover that the most potent factor in making this century what it has been is organization. Indeed, organization is the watchword everywhere, and has invariably resulted in greatly promoting the welfare of every civic, business or social interest whose adherents have resorted to this as a means for furthering their common good.

In view of these facts is it not remarkable, to say the least, that the real estate dealers of the country have until recently failed to avail themselves of the great benefits to be derived from a general organization? Not only have the real estate fraternity of the country been behind the times in the matter of national organization, but they have also had fewer and less strong local associations than men of equal intelligence and business ability in almost every other calling. No other class can exercise so powerful and wholesome an influence in promoting the permanent welfare of any community as can the real estate dealers and owners, if they will only unite their forces through organizations.

There is no room for doubt that a national organization of real estate men will not only prove of incalculable benefit to the agents themselves, but will also become a great power in developing the unmeasured resources and promiting the prosperity of our common country.

The real estate interest is fundamental to all others, and in fact is the basis of all permanent wealth. Ownership of no other class of property contributes so largely to good citizenship and the welfare of the state as does that of real property. It follows, therefore, that a wisely managed organization of the country's reputable and reliable real estate dealers, whose purpose is to improve the conditions environing such ownership, can not fail to prove itself a truly beneficent and patriotic institution. By reason of the very vastness of the interests which the real estate brokers of this country represent, the more are they able, and the more are they under obligation, to exert a controlling influence in making legislation—municipal, state and federal—such as to insure to the enduring advantage of the large and growing clientage which they have the honor to represent. As individuals, the real estate men of the land can do but little in this great and important work. Organized, they will be absolutely invincible in improving, simplifying and making more uniform the laws affecting the ownership and transference of real estate. Through organization, also, they may do much to raise the standard of business ethics among real estate men, to discountenance all dishonest and disreputable methods, and thereby elevate, dignify and make more worthy of public confidence the truly honorable profession to which they belong.

All these results, so greatly to be desired, can best be accomplished through the means of a national association, supplemented by wide-awake, well conducted real estate boards and exchanges in the different cities in the country. Through the national association, general lines of policy as to matters of legislation and the better management of the real estate business may be outlined and recommended to the favorable consideration and action of the various local boards. They, in turn, can use the great influence at their command to successfully carry into effect in their different states the betterments suggested by the national association.

Thus will the national and local organization be closely affiliated, and the success of each be essential and dependent upon the other.

In an interview President Benjamin M. Weil, of the National Real Estate association, recently made the following valuable observations as to what may be accomplished through this organization in securing better and more uniform laws, which are well worth reproducing in this connection. "It is almost impossible," he said with much earnestness, "for any of us to over-estimate the great work that can be accomplished for the legitimate and honorable real estate agents of the country by our national association through the various local boards and exchanges already in existence and to be organized before the next gathering. To begin with, one of the most important matters that will come before the Buffalo meeting will be that of asking from the legislatures of the various states a uniform law, to be in force and effect throughout the United States, governing the execution and acknowledgment of transfers of realty. As the real estate agents of the country well know, every one engaged in the business has been greatly inconvenienced, if there have been no more serious results, as an effect of having about as many different laws upon the subject as there are different states. For instance, in Wisconsin two witnesses are required before the title to the property is perfect, while in Illinois none are required. In some of the other states the wife has to acknowledge independently of the husband or by a separate instrument. The same difficulty exists in regard to the law covering foreclosures. In some states a mortgage can be legally foreclosed in six months, while in others it requires from fifteen months to two years. It is also true that in some states the law requires notice of the foreclosure sale to be published for a different length of time than is required in others. I have no doubt whatever but all honorable attorneys will give their indorsement to any effort our association may make to bring about these legal reforms which are so much needed.

"Then with reference to the settlement of estates disposed of by will: Attorneys can not give, with absolute certainty, any advice in the matter of settling estates that may be inherited by non-residents, while if a uniform law could be framed administrators, testators, legatees, attorneys, real estate dealers and all concerned could know just what to do, and how to proceed, no matter where they might happen to reside.

"Much trouble has come to the holders of real estate mortgages through their not being intelligently informed that the owner of the property on which they have security has become delinquent in the payment of his taxes, and oftentimes the property has been sold and tax deeds issued without his knowledge. The subject of a perfect tax deed often becomes a very perplexing question in the sale of real estate. It has been suggested that notice should be served on the holders of any incumbrance that the property will be sold for taxes, in the same manner as the serving of notices of any action begun against him in the courts. But this whole matter can be made a subject for interesting and instructive discussion at Buffalo, when no doubt a practical and legal plan can be agreed upon.

"I might speak," continued President Weil, "of the many conflicting laws in force throughout the country controlling the transfer of real estate and trusteeship of realty. We will not ask for the passage of any law that will redound to the interests of real estate men to the detriment of any other person or class. We will simply ask for the passage of laws governing the varied real estate interests of the nation, in the uniformity of which all are equally interested."

In view of the reasons herein set forth, and the many others which will readily suggest themselves to the mind of every intelligent realty dealer, the National Real Estate association earnestly solicits your active co-operation in furthering the worthy objects for which it has been organized. The first regular meeting of this organization was held at Nashville, Tenn., February 17 to 19, 1892, and was attended by fully six hundred delegates, representing nearly every section in the Union. A permanent organization was effected, and Buffalo was designated as the place for holding the next meeting, which which will convene October 4, 1892, and continues in session three days. The enterprising citizens of Buffalo propose to expend from $10,000 to $15,000 in properly entertaining the convention, and no pains or money will be spared to make the October meeting a pre-eminent success from every point of view.

TENTH ANNUAL SESSION

Of the American Physio-Medicae Association.

Meeting at the Boody House—Distinguished Doctors in Attendance.

The American Physio-Medical Association of Physicians and Surgeons are holding their tenth annual session in room 125, Boody house. The meeting opened yesterday afternoon with about thirty members, but this session was devoted to organizing and getting ready for business.

The evening session opened at 8 o'clock. Dr. L. F. Towers in the chair, Dr. A. W. Fisher, of Indianapolis, secretary. A paper on diphtheri awas read by Dr. C. B. Keith, of Minneapolis. Dr. Keith's paper on diphtheria was read by Dr. C. this dread disease. He is a ready speaker, of fine presence, and one of the ablest physicians present. Dr. Mayhugh, of Westerville, Ohio, followed him with a short paper. There were discussion by Drs. Keith and Harroun, after which the meeting adjourned to 9 o'clock this morning.

The morning session was a most interesting one to the medical fraternity, the papers and discussions being on the class of delicate, private diseases, which are so common and so difficult for physicians to handle. The papers were by T. J. Lyle, G. H. Maugh, and Annette Corneveaux. After discussions an adjournment was taken until 2 o'clock. A secret session will occupy the first hour of the afternoon meeting. About 50 members are present this morning, of whom four are ladies, Mrs. Dr. Olsen, of Buffalo; Mrs. Dr. Pierce, of Robinson, Ill.; Mrs. Dr. Woodford, Indianapolis; Dr. Annette Corneveaux. Among the the physicians present prominent in the profession, are: Drs. A. C. Canfield, Indiana; Chas. A. Stafford, New Castle; Cady Markley, Edwin C. Bollinger, J. T. Loomis, Fostoria, O.; J. A. Stafford, Millville, Ind.; J. W. Holmes, W. S. Loomis, R. C. Knox, H. T. Roop, Chicago, Ill.; A. J. Corfman, Tiffin, O.; N. D. Woodford, Indianapolis; O. P. Fletcher, J. E. Roop, Chicago, Ill.; A. A. Hathaway, Pemberville, O.; E. S. Harroun, Lyons, O.; E. Tompkins, Richfield Center, O.; G. H. Mayhugh, Westerville, O.; S. P. Dyer, Bellville, O.; H. F. Nichols, Athica, N. Y.; M. H. Carey, Buffalo, N. Y.; B. B. Lurmer, North Benton, O.; L. F. Towers, Toledo; A. W. Fisher, Indianapolis, Ind.; E. Anthony, Indianapolis, Ind.

Since it is now a well-established fact catarrh is a blood disease, medical men are quite generally prescribing Ayer's Sarsaparilla for that most loathsome complaint, and the result, in nearly every instance, proves the wisdom of their advice.

RELIGION IN IRELAND.

The Power of the Catholics Urged Against Home Rule.

London, May 18.—Mr. Gladstone has written a reply to a clergyman, who, in a letter to the liberal leader, expressed fear that should home rule be established in Ireland the Catholics of that country would exercise tyranny over the protestant minority of the population.

Mr. Gladstone answered: "Set your mind at ease. The best legal security against the possibility of such oppression is imperial prohibition of all ecclesiastical establishment or preference and this the advocates of home rule promise."

ON A SERIOUS CHARGE.

C. O. Eakin Still in Jail in Fremont.

Fremont, May 18.—C. O. Eakin has failed to secure bail. He is under arrest for causing the death of Joseph Hughes, at Millersville. Eakin had suspected tramps of stealing from him and fixed a gun so that it would be discharged when anybody entered the house. The gun was aimed so as to hit the intruder in the legs. Joseph Hughes, a 13-year old boy, opened the door and received the charge in the abdomen and died.

Mary: "Why have you taken the bottle of Carlsbad Sprudel Salt from my washstand? You know I want it in the morning, or I will suffer from indigestion and headache all day."

Every woman can lessen the number and frequency of her headaches by assisting nature by natural means. The Carlsbad Sprudel Salt, which is evaporated from the natural waters of Carlsbad, taken early in the morning, before breakfast, and, if necessary, at bedtime, will supply these means.

Be sure to take the "genuine," which has the signature of "Eisner & Mendelson Co.," Agents, and Importers of Mineral Waters, 6 Barclay St., New York, on every bottle.

DREADFUL SKIN DISEASE

Afflicts a Well-Known Merchant. Itching and Burning Terrible. Doctors and All Remedies Fail.

Tries Cuticura. Relieved by the First Application and Entirely Cured in Five Weeks.

About eighteen months ago a small speck appeared on my ankle; it resembled a fish scale; it became larger, and I consulted a physician who pronounced it psoriasis or monied disease, because it resembled money. I applied an ointment, but it spread until at last it covered almost my entire body. My suffering was something terrible, burning and itching sensation continually until it became almost unendurable. I suffered tortures especially at night, and for two months I was compelled to sleep with gloves on. I became desperate. I would have given anything to be relieved of the itching sensation. I tried a number of remedies without any relief. I was requested to try CUTICURA; this I did, and to my great surprise, I was relieved after the first application. I used the CUTICURA, CUTICURA SOAP and CUTICURA RESOLVENT according to directions for about four or five weeks when I was entirely cured. But what a relief it was to me after the suffering I went through. I cannot speak with too much favor for the "CUTICURA REMEDIES," and I would recommend it to all those who are suffering from the same disease that I have suffered.

THE EMERSONIAN TEST.

"I shall not open the door, Harvardson," said the Boston wife at 2 o'clock a. m., "until I have satisfactory evidence that you have not been spending the evening in riotous conviviality."

"Your precaution, my dear," replied the Boston husband, who stood shivering on the outside, "is natural but unnecessary. I have been in attendance an an unusually interesting session of the Zoroaster club."

With clear, distinct enunciation he then repeated rapidly this passage from Emerson's essay on Plato: "Seashore, sea seen from the shore, shore seen from the sea."

APPLIANCE IN SKETCHING.

Some of the many who will spend a large portion of the next few months of their life in the open air will be interested to know that a new appliance has been brought out for facilitating the making of sketches of landscapes, buildings, etc. The device comprises an instrument to enable a draughtsman to mark off on a sheet of paper the relative position of as many points in the view as may be considered necessary to obtain a correct representation. This instrument is based on the well-known method of measuring with a pencil and thumb. One form of the appliance resembles a pair of compasses, with a fixed limb between the two legs.

"AVERAGE" PEOPLE.

The genius soars far to the fountain
That feeds the snow-cap in the sky;
But, though our wings break in the flying,
And though our souls faint in the trying,
Our sight can not follow so high;
And the eagle swoops not from the mountain
To answer the ground-bird's low cry.

The world has a gay guerdon ready
To hail the fleet-foot in the race;
But on the dull highway of duty,
Aloof from the pomp and the beauty,
The stir and the chance of the chase,
Are toilers, with step true and steady,
Pursuing their wearisome pace.

False prowess and noisy insistence
May capture the garrulous throng,
But the "average" father and brother,
The home-keeping sister and mother,
Grown gentle and patient and strong,
Shall learn in the fast-nearing distance
Wherein life's awards have been wrong.

Then here's to the "average people,"
The makers of home and its rest;
To them the world turns for a blessing
When life its hard burdens is pressing,
For stay-at-home hearts are the best.
Birds build if they will in the steeple,
But safer the eaves for a nest.
